ST. PETERSBURG FOREVER CHANGES HER NAME TO SNUB THE TEUTON

Czar's Capital Will Hereafter be Known As "Petrograde."—Russians Threaten To Utterly Destroy City of Berlin to Avenge Louvain.

By Associated Press.

London, Sept. 1.—Today, on the eve of the anniversary of the capitulation of Sedan, three million troops are battling on the French frontier—the Germans in a headlong effort to celebrate the day with a drastic success; the French backed by their British allies, to avenge their defeat of forty-four years ago.

That the Germans have gained ground in the encircling movement on the French left wing is admitted by the French Foreign Office, but it is asserted also that after a three days' battle in this region the Anglo-French line, although pushed back, still remains unbroken.

Washington, September 1.—A German victory at Allenstein, in which three Russian army corps were defeated and 70,000 prisoners, including two Russian commanding generals were taken, was reported today to the German Embassy from Berlin by wireless by way of Sayville, Long Island. The dispatch says: "Official report of the victory at Allenstein shows that it was even greater than known before. Three Russian army corps were annihilated. 70,000 prisoners were taken including two commanding generals, 300 officers and the complete artillery of the Russian army."

"The Brazilian military attache at Berlin writes that the German victory did not come as a surprise to those who witnessed their maneuvers in peace and declared that the effect of the Krupps heavy artillery is astonishing."

London, September 1.—The correspondent of the Express telegraphed from the Hague saying: "There is the greatest alarm in Berlin over the advance of the Russian troops. The news that the Emperor has left the western headquarters and moved to the Russian front as shown the residents of the capital where the immediate peril to their safety lies. A story has been circulated that the Russians are preparing to avenge Louvain by treating the city of Berlin in the same way as the Germans treated that city. Many of the populace who can get away are going to Norway, Denmark and Switzerland."

This Belgian soldier, one of the thousands wounded, lay on a cot in St. Jean hospital, Brussels, surrounded by his three sisters. Eagerly they bent over him as he whispered his story of the battle in which he was shot down. Halted at times by gasps of pain, he recited the short story of his humble part in the war. London, Sept. 1.—"The Anglo-French army corps have had to give ground, but nowhere have they been broken through," is the statement given out at the French Embassy in London today.

REPORT 20,000 AUSTRIANS KILLED

By Associated Press.

London, September 1.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Rome claims that news had been received there from Bucharest, Roumania, setting forth that the Russians have inflicted a loss of 20,000 on the Austrians who sought to cross the Vistula.

FRENCH BEGIN ANOTHER ADVANCE

Washington, September 1.—The French Ambassador, J. J. Jusserand, today received this official dispatch from Paris: "In the Vosges and in Lorraine our troops began advance again yesterday. At Sassey, on the Meuse, a regiment of German infantry nearly annihilated. On our left wing German progress made. Russian offensive advance progressing."

ROBBED NICELY

New York, Sept. 1.—The Italian steamer, Principessa Masalda, chartered by John E. Jones, American Consul at Genoa, at a cost of $184,000, reached New York today from Italy with 388 wealthy Americans aboard and unoccupied cabins with space for 200 more. Some of the passengers paid $7,000 for a cabin. None paid less than $100 and the average cost to all aboard was approximately $500.

DOORS CLOSED BY CARDINALS

By Associated Press.

Rome, September 1.—The doors of the conclave hall, behind which the College of Cardinals gathered last night to elect a successor to the late Pope Pius, were still closed this morning. Not until a new Pope has been chosen will they be opened, or any news of the result of the proceedings be given out. Behind the portals the Cardinals last night prayed for inspiration to enable them to choose a Pope who would fulfill the requirements of his high office, both from the standpoint of the church and that of humanity.

Passengers Kept Ignorant of Danger Until Chicago Pier Is Sighted at Dawn—Capt. Bjork Forces Men and Crew to Allow Women and Children to Escape First.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The lives of 300 passengers of the excursion boat, City of Chicago, which caught fire out twelve miles from this harbor in Lake Michigan at 5 o'clock this morning were saved by the resourcefulness of Captain Oscar Bjork. His wireless failing to work the Captain ordered the engines full speed ahead and forty-five minutes later the big boat, with a carrying capacity of 2,600 passengers, sank her bow into the government pier and was wedged fast.

All through the ordeal the officers and crew stuck to their posts, although the stokers and engine men were choking with the smoke and flames were bursting from the upper works.

To avoid panic the passengers, nearly all of whom were asleep, were not notified to come on deck until the pier was dimly visible through the morning mist.

"Women and children first," shouted the captain and the male passengers, as well as the crew, stood back. The passengers descended to the pier which forms a long breakwater at the entrance to the harbor and later were brought into the city by a rescuing craft. The flames were subdued after three hours fight by the city fire tugs.

GERMANS MARSHAL MOSLEM

By Associated Press.

Rome, September 1.—A telegram received in Rome from Berlin announces the mobilization of the Turkish army. Following the advice of Field Marshal Baron von der Goltz, it is estimated the Turkish government will form an army of the first line composed of 200,000 men, all Mohammedans.

Seventy-two superior German officers, forming the German military mission at Constantinople, have been incorporated in the Turkish army and in the army is interpreted to mean will participate in the war.

The presence of the German officers that Turkey will fight on the side of the Germans.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The British Embassy has been informed by a cable from London that the German officers have gone to Constantinople to take charge of the Turkish army and that a declaration of war from Turkey was expected. Plans are already under way to ask the American Ambassador at Constantinople to take charge of British interests there.

"Today, Sedan day, was celebrated here with jubilation because of the victorious news which arrived from the east and west last night. The Russian defeat at Ortelsburg recalls Sedan by the huge number of prisoners taken."

BEY DOUBTFUL

London, Sept. 1.—According to a dispatch from Antwerp, General Pau won a brilliant victory over 50,000 Germans at Peronne. This is the first successful move of the allies' effort to stem the onrush of the German right wing pushing toward Paris from the north.

According to the brief report of the engagement, General Pau, hurrying from the frontier lines in the south with fresh troops, crossed the Somme river 30 miles from Amiens, in the department of the Somme, and struck a heavy blow at a division of General Von Kluck's army.

The German line had approached within 60 miles of Paris, but if the allies succeed in supporting the offensive movement of General Pau the invaders will be forced to stay their march to prevent their right from being outflanked.

New York, Sept. 1.—Count Johann Von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, issued this statement:

"The war has been fought and won: Germany did not begin the war; she did not want the war; she is ready for peace at any moment. The coalition has been defeated in western Europe. German defeat now on land is out of the question.

"The aims of the German general staff have been attained. The allies have been so badly and so suddenly worsted that Germany is free to withdraw, as she has begun to do, great numbers of men to ward off the Russian invasion. German victory means a great advance of democracy in the empire. The nation can never forget how the whole people rose as one man against an unjust attack."

WILSON TO SEEK A SECOND TERM

Will Be Candidate For Democratic Nomination in 1916.

OPPOSITION SEEMS UNLIKELY

President Believes It the Duty of a Chief Executive to Submit His Administration to the People of the Country So That They May Express Their Approval or Disapproval of the Same.

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Wilson will be a candidate for a second presidential term. Definite information that Mr. Wilson has expressed himself as believing it the duty of a chief executive to submit his administration to the people of the country so that they may express their approval or disapproval, became known from an authoritative source.

It was before Mrs. Wilson's death that the president expressed himself to a friend on the subject of a second presidential term. Since then some persons in touch with the administration have feared that, disheartened by the death of Mrs. Wilson and by the drain upon his strength made by the ever increasing round of official duties, he might prefer other scenes and a less strenuous life at the end of his term.

Those who are familiar with the president's character are convinced that he will stand by the views expressed by him with regard to a second term. They are convinced now that if, by the time of the nominating primaries and conventions of 1916, Mr. Wilson is in anything like normal health, he will go before the people and ask them to pass verdict on his administration.

Political leaders both within and without the Democratic party concede that if Mr. Wilson is a candidate for the Democratic nomination he will not be seriously opposed. From an authoritative source it has been learned that not long ago Secretary of State Bryan expressed the view that if the Wilson administration was a success Mr. Wilson could have the Democratic nomination for the asking, and that if the administration did not measure up to public expectations the nomination would not be worth having for anybody else.

48TH ENCAMPMENT

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—After an intermission of twenty-three years the Grand Army of the Republic is again the honored guest of this city. The veterans are here from nearly every state in the Union to attend the forty-eighth national encampment. Those in charge of the encampment said that the early attendance is even larger than predicted. The following past commander are said to be in the race for commander: C. W. Blodgett, Ohio; David J. Palmer, Iowa; O. A. Somers, Indiana; Frank O. Cole, New Jersey; P. H. Coney, Kansas; and Thomas H. Soward, Oklahoma.

SHORTHAND BLUNDERS.

Misplaced or Wrong Vowels Lead to Queer Translations.

A volume could be filled with amusing stories of shorthand mistakes, the greater number of them due to mistaken vowels. For instance, "This day is big with fate" was transcribed "This day is big with fat," while "Do not indulge in spite" came out "Do not indulge in spit," and "A house of many gables" was transcribed into "A house of many gabbles."

The use of the wrong vowel may have the most amusing result, as in the phrase "Man, know thyself," which was once converted in the report of a sermon into "Man, gnaw thyself." To misplace a vowel is in shorthand the easiest thing in the world. T. A. Reed, the well known reporter, tells of a pupil who by this means turned "mighty acts" into "mighty cats," and another report of a sermon was spoiled by the advice "Return a blow with an ax," instead of "a kiss."

The "reporting style," in which the vowels are omitted altogether for the sake of rapidity, is responsible for the famous American story of the shorthand clerk who took down a note of his wife's instruction to "be sure to remember to bring home some castle soap" and, as a result, returned home with a tin of oxtail soup—London Strand Magazine.

BOTH SIGNED THE NOTE.

A Financial Formality That Puzzled Both Clay and Webster.

The men in official Washington seem to have less of a halo about them than in the good old days, when the towering form of Webster or Henry Clay would attract more attention on Pennsylvania avenue than a brass band or a tango dancer in 1914. In a bank the other day I saw a note indorsed jointly by Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. The story is told that Clay asked Webster to indorse a note with him for $500.

"All right," said the studious and thoughtful Webster, "I'll do so, Clay, if you'll make it $1,000 and give me half." Clay agreed to the compact, and the two set out for Banker Riggs, signed the note with due solemnity and secured the proceeds. As they swung across the threshold out again on the avenue and divided the money Webster in his ponderous voice remarked to Clay, "Henry, why do you suppose Mr. Riggs wanted our names on that note?"

"It baffles me, Daniel," responded Clay. "Perhaps he desired some memento to hand down to posterity, for I cannot at this moment conceive how it is going to be paid for the present generation."

The canceled note is today a valued souvenir, worth many times its face, because of the illustrious signers.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

WOLVES OF LABRADOR.

Story of a Child and the Squaws Who Tried to Save Her.

A Labrador missionary, says Mortimer Batten in the Wide World Magazine, told me a curious story which occurred on the Labrador coast some years ago. One night the little daughter of a certain brave was missing, and, on discovering the child's tracks in the snow, a party of squaws set out to look for her.

What was their alarm when, a little way from camp, they found that the footprints of a great gray wolf accompanied those of the child. The brute did not appear to have harmed her, but had apparently frisked along ahead, enticing the child farther and farther from camp. In all probability the child mistook it for a dog and followed readily, though the superstitious Indians, of course, believed that the brute had exercised some devilish influence over her.

Darkness was creeping on and, though much afraid, the squaws continued to follow the tracks of the wolf and the child. Night found them far from home, when what was their horror to find that they themselves had been deceived and were now surrounded by wolves!

Only one squaw survived the night of horror that ensued to return next morning to bear tidings of the calamity to camp.

Time To Be Patient

It is well for the American people, during these troublous times of war, to weigh carefully, before expressing their opinion too emphatically, any statement which comes out from the war zone about outrages perpetrated by the troops of either one of the warring nations.

Especially is this true with regard to reported indignities or worse suffered by American citizens.

Several times there have been reports, apparently authentic, about American travelers being held up by troops and compelled to submit to indignities and endure open insults, reports about the confiscation of baggage and personal belongings of American travelers on the continent. Reports of rough treatment suffered by Americans at the hands of German soldiers and German officials have been numerous since hostilities began and many of the excitable citizens here at home were quick to believe, take offense and express threats of violence on account of such reports.

Later information has in almost every instance proved the first reports which so excited the ire of the American people to have been utterly groundless.

Every European nation now engaged in war, through both its civil and military authorities, has been uniformly courteous and respectful to citizens of this nation. On every hand so far as it was possible to do so in view of the disordered conditions, the officials both civil and military, of the German Empire have shown American travelers every courtesy possible and assisted them in every way within their power in getting out of the war torn country, according to reports of travelers who have returned home.

Americans should bear in mind that chaotic disorder reigns within the borders of the warring nations and especially in Germany was the confusion appalling just after the fighting commenced. Troops were being mobilized and every public place and public conveyance was pressed into use in the work of gathering together and moving the Kaiser's vast army.

Every nation in Europe is anxious to retain America's friendship and our people may rest assured that no American who attends to his own affairs will be molested.

Someone of the great nations, someone great household of the family must keep cool and be ready to assist in shaping the peace terms and that duty is put upon this nation and this household by common consent of all the great nations. Our aim should be to avoid trouble, not to seek it.

Before the people of this land declare themselves in favor of taking up arms to avenge some reported insult to an American citizen, they should have the report confirmed beyond all doubt and then make up their minds to endure some slight affronts—excuse them on the ground that the perpetrators are beside themselves with the mad frenzy of war—rather than insist on plunging this people into the frightful maelstrom of war.

We must be patient; we must be forgiving and above all else, we must refuse to express anger and hostility on every wild report of misdeeds by the troops of the warring nations.

Day of Big Naval Ship Passed; Submarine Its Foe

By Admiral Sir PERCY SCOTT of England

WHEN the question of whether battleships should be large or small was publicly under discussion many people wrote to me for my views on the subject. I replied that, in my opinion, the time had arrived when we should cease building battleships and spend the money in increasing the number of our air craft and submarines.

MANY NAVAL OFFICERS HAVE WRITTEN THAT THEY AGREE WITH ME. ON THE OTHER HAND, MANY CRITICS HAVE EXPRESSED OPINIONS THAT I AM PREMATURE, THAT I HAVE ASSUMED WHAT MAY BE A POSSIBILITY IN THE FUTURE MAY BE A FACT OF TODAY, THAT IN WARFARE THE TORPEDO HAS BEEN DISAPPOINTING, THAT THE SUBMARINE IS BLIND, SLOW AND EASILY DESTROYED.

None of my critics has given a satisfactory explanation of what our battleships would or could do if we should be at war with a nation well equipped with submarines.

Poetry For Today

THE ALLIES.

Yoked in knowledge and remorse now we come to rest, Laughing at old villainies that Time has turned to jest; Pardoning old necessity no pardon can efface—

That undying sin we shared in Rouen market place. Now we watch the new years shape, wondering if they hold

Fiercer lightnings in their hearts than we launched of old. Now we hear new voices rise, question, boast or gird,

As we raged (rememberest thou?) when our crowds were stirred. Now we count new keels afloat, and new hosts on land,

Massed like our (rememberest thou?) when our strokes were planned, We were schooled for dear life's sake to know each other's blade,

What can blood and iron make more than we have made? We have learned by keenest use to know each other's mind,

What shall blood and iron loose that we cannot bind? We who swept each other's coast, sacked each other's home,

Since the sword of Brennus clashed on the scales at Rome. Listen, count and close again, wheeling girth to girth,

In the linked and steadfast guard set for peace on earth! —Rudyard Kipling.

ORIGIN OF THE CURFEW.

The Cover Fire Bell Was Rung Way Back In King Alfred's Time.

What is the curfew? Its etymology carries its history with it. The word comes from the French couvre-feu (cover fire), a bell tolled at evening as a signal to the inhabitants to cover fires, extinguish lights and retire to rest. It is erroneously said to have been instituted in England by William the Conqueror as an arbitrary bit of tyranny, and the nursery historian has waxed sentimental over the wrongs of the conquered Saxon, and conjured up pictures that must be balm to the downtrodden Celt. Even Thomson tells us:

The shivering wretches at the curfew sound Dejected sunk into their sordid beds.

But the couvre-feu was known before William's time, both in England and on the continent. He did, indeed, issue an edict on the subject, and although this edict may incidentally have helped to put down the Saxon beer clubs, which were hotbeds of political conspiracies, its primary aim was as a precaution against fire. That danger was an ever present one in those days of chimneyless wooden houses.

The ancient city ordinances of London abound in stringent fire regulations. None of them, however, was more effective than the "cover fire" bell, which as far back as the time of King Alfred was rung in certain places in England. William's edict rendered compulsory an ancient custom. But it was a wise legislative act and not a bit of arbitrary tyranny. We find plenty of early traces of the custom or its equivalent, as, for instance, the blowing of a horn at the market place in continental Europe.

Victimized by Changing Times. "Now, then, Cousin Emma, let me give you a bit off the breast."

"Yes, please, I should like to taste that, for in my young days they always gave it to the grownups, and now they keep it for the children, so I've always missed it."—London Punch.

Rome, Sept. 1.—Preliminary to the election of a new pope fifty-seven cardinals, thirty-one Italians and twenty-six foreigners, are assembled at the Vatican. Among those absent are Cardinals O'Connell and Gibbons of the United States. They will arrive Thursday.

Although the greatest secrecy surrounds the election of the new pope, the cardinals being walled up in the conclave apartments in the court of St. Damso, vatican authorities are unanimous in declaring the selection has narrowed down to the choice of one of nine cardinals. The new pope, it is declared, is certain to be chosen from among the following cardinals:—Maffi, Garpari, Ferrari, Luadi, Ferrata, Cassetta, Agliardi, Serafini and Pompili.

WORLDS OF THE UNIVERSE.

All Might Be Annihilated and Not Affect the Solar Systems.

I am asked, "Are distant stars which shine by their own light visible only, or are worlds like our earth visible by reflected light?"

Go out to Neptune, our own last local world in our modest solar system; turn around, look back this way; then you must have a large telescope to see the earth. Only the sun of all bodies in our solar system is visible from space depths. And it looks like the point of the finest sewing needle from stellar distances.

Thus from space depths only suns at terrific heat are visible in any telescope, even the largest that can be made. Then all worlds are invisible and unknown. The earth and man are both totally unknown to people on worlds revolving around any of the hundreds of millions of other suns, if there are such worlds and inhabitants.

Imagine that there are 1,000,000,000 suns, each surrounded by eight worlds like those revolving now around our sun. Then if an accident suddenly annihilated the 8,000,000,000 worlds, people and all, the accident could not even be noticed. The suns would all move on with velocities in between four and eighty miles per second precisely as if there had been no accident. Thus if there are intelligences in the depths of the sidereal universe they have not heard of man nor his infinitesimal world—the earth.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

Steel Rail Inventor.

The first modern steel rails of the type which made high speed railway operation possible were designed by Plimmon Henry Dudley, who was born at Freedom, O., in 1843. He became a civil and metallurgical engineer, and after four years as chief engineer of the city of Akron, O., he turned his attention to railroad and transportation problems. His first invention, the dynamograph, was made in 1874. He perfected the track indicator in 1880 and three years later designed the first five inch steel rail used in America. In 1892 he introduced the first six inch 100 pound rails. Another of his inventions which made the famous "fliers" of today possible was the streamtograph, an instrument for obtaining and registering strains in rails under moving trains.

FARES TO BE 3 CTS.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Passenger rates on eastern railroads will be increased within the next thirty or sixty days. Following the suggestion made in the recent decision of the interstate commerce commission on the advanced rate case, in which the commission set forth that passenger rates were not compensatory, the carriers have got together and compiled new tariffs. The new rate will call for 3 instead of 2 cents a mile.

RINGS OF AIR.

How to Blow Out a Lighted Candle Twelve Feet Away.

The distance from which an average man can blow out a candle rarely exceeds three feet. If he is an adept at blowing smoke rings, however, a candle may be extinguished at twelve feet. Of course the smoke isn't necessary. An ordinary air ring will do and has the added advantage of being invisible. Simply pucker the mouth as you would to blow a smoke ring and expel air in a quick, sharp manner. It takes a good deal of practice to do it.

An easier way to show the effect if one is doubtful is to place a sheet of cloth or canvas over the open side of a box otherwise closed, making a small, round hole in another side. Then tap in a sharp manner on the canvas and invisible air rings will be produced. If the hole is pointed at a person's face and the rings are made he will feel them as they strike his face. Only a few trials are necessary to extinguish a candle at twelve feet. To render the rings visible a smudge may be burned in the box, or a small dish of ammonia may be placed side by side with a small dish of hydrochloric acid, the combined fumes of these liquids making a dense smoke.

The explanation why one can put out the candle at twelve feet is that the energy of expulsion is conserved and practically all retained in the smoke ring, while a simple blowing has to set in motion a whole stream of air and is therefore wasteful.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Ten Years' Penance.

It is happily seldom that the revenge of a disappointed husband takes quite such an extreme form as in the case of the man whose wife ran thus: "When I remember that the only happy times I ever enjoyed were when my wife sulked with me, and when I remember that my married life might, for this reason, be considered to have been a fairly happy one because she was nearly always sulking, I am constrained to forget the repulsion the contemplation of her face inspired me with and leave her the sum of £60,000 on condition that she undertakes to pass two hours a day at my graveside for the ten years following my decease, in company with her sister, whom I have reason to know she loathes worse than she does myself."—London Tit-Bits.

Easy Dusting.

Mrs. Florin had a new maid, and one morning as she entered the library she was somewhat surprised to find the girl seated in one of the chairs with her hands folded.

"What!" cried the mistress. "Here you are sitting down! Why, you were sent in here to dust the room!"

"Yes, ma'am," was the girl's reply, "but I've lost the duster, and so I am sitting on each of the chairs in turn."—Harper's Magazine.

MANY PROBLEMS EXPECTED TO CONFRONT CONFERENCE

Help For Foreign Missionary Forces to be Considered—Bishop Anderson is Unable to Leave Europe—Local Preparations for Annual Ohio M. E. Conference Now Well in Hand.

When the annual Ohio Methodist Episcopal Conference meets in this city September 16th, a number of weighty problems will receive attention, one of the principal matters being the formulation of plans for relief of suffering missionary forces in the Orient, whose troubles have suddenly become ten-fold greater by the European war.

In an appeal from the Missionary Board of the church, measures for relief have been asked for, and the appeal indicates that the sufferings of the missionary forces are liable to become much greater as the great struggle proceeds in Europe.

Bishop Anderson, who was first mentioned as the presiding bishop at the conference, is with his family in Europe, and the last heard from him was while he was in Switzerland, unable to leave the country. He had been detailed to visit various missionary posts of the church in Africa and other countries, but it is believed he will not be able to complete his journey, and may even fail to get out of the troubled European countries. Bishop Anderson and family are virtually prisoners in Europe. Bishop Thirkield, of New Orleans, will preside over the conference.

Rev. Ross and the official Board of Grace church have been very busy preparing for the approaching conference, and plans are shaping nicely. Including superannuates, supernumeraries and candidates for admission, there will be about 225 in attendance at the Ohio conference. In addition, there will be a number of members of church boards and auxiliary organizations. Laymen, however, will not be in great numbers, excepting those on the board of stewards. The quadrennial electoral conference of the laymen will be held soon, but the time and place have not been fixed.

Not many changes will be made in pastures this year in the Ohio conference, it is said. Twelve changes throughout the conference, it is believed, will be the limit. These will be the result of the necessity for the appointment of four new district superintendents. Lancaster, Zanesville, Chillicothe and Marietta districts are to be supplied in this respect, the vacancies being made by the expiration of terms.

Speaking of the condition of foreign missionaries, Dr. A. M. Courtenay, superintendent of the Columbus district, says:

"At present the effect of the war on the missionary work of the Methodist Episcopal church is great. It may be said that our work has been rent asunder practically. But the church in this country is praying daily for an end to the war, and we live in hope that that end soon may come. When the Ohio conference meets, no sides in the conflict will be taken. There is no side we can support. All we can do is to express ourselves as deploring the war, and we shall continue to pray for its end. Our sympathies are with all the people whose suffering must be the result. We know that there are Methodists fighting against Methodists. It is probable that there are more Methodists in the German army than in armies of any of the other countries."

DEATH FOLLOWS STROKE OF PARALYSIS

Mr. Harry Morman, at one time actively associated with Washington's business and social interests, and since leaving this city to make his home in the West, frequently returning to visit his family, died Sunday evening at Cincinnati.

Ten days ago Mr. Morman, while in Cincinnati, had a stroke of paralysis and was taken to one of the hospitals.

From the first there was no hope of recovery.

Funeral services were held at the old home of the Moormans in Jamestown, at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning and burial was made in the Jamestown cemetery.

Mr. Bert Ellis and Mrs. Alice Moorman went over from here to attend the funeral and Dr. and Mrs. H. Sterling Moore and son, William, came up from Batavia.

TO MOVE ELEVATOR IN NEAR FUTURE

Work on the new foundation for the Cissna elevator, near the D. T. & I. depot, is well under way, and within the next few weeks the big elevator will be hoisted and set back some 30 feet to the new foundation, in order to give the D. T. & I. room for additional trackage and a wagon road along the tracks.

Arrangements for moving are well under way, and business is being transacted without interruption.

Long before the corn husking season opens it is expected that the elevator will be ready to take its usual amount of grain.

A number of improvements are to be added to the elevator plant.

EXCITING RUNAWAY EARLY THIS MORNING

A team attached to a farm wagon became frightened on East Court street about 7:30 Tuesday morning, and a moment later was dashing up through the city with the man in charge making a vain attempt to stop them.

The rumble of the wagon and rattle of galloping hoofs gave warning of the approach of the runaway team and all rigs and pedestrians drew aside to give the runaways free rein.

The team passed out West Court street, crossing the D. T. & I. just ahead of the morning passenger train and turning out Clinton avenue. The man, who was seated upon the running gears of the wagon, finally brought the team to a stop just west of the city, with no particular damage resulting, although several near collisions added much to the excitement of the run.

ARTERY SEVERED WHEN DRILL BREAKS

Geo. Miller, employed at the Kyle Manufacturing plant, suffered a painful and dangerous injury, Monday afternoon, when a drill with which he was working snapped, and cut a deep gash across the left wrist, severing the artery.

Before he could be rushed to a physician's office he had lost much blood, and became deathly ill. It required a number of stitches to close the gaping wound.

Prompt action on the part of those who were nearby prevented the man from bleeding to death before the wound could be stopped by the physician in attendance.

CENSUS PROVES UNRELIABLE BAINBRIDGE IS UNCHANGED

That there is not enough residents in Bainbridge to permit the operation of two saloons, has finally been determined after a census has been taken three times.

The interesting story of the affair is given by the Scioto Gazette, as follows:

"The whole matter, according to a well known Bainbridge citizen, came up in the following way: When the inhabitants of Bainbridge found out that, according to the new laws, they would be allowed only one saloon for each 500 people, they immediately set out to find the 'status quo' and ordered a census of the village taken. This was done by E. E. Wolfe, who found that the village contained 927 people—not quite enough for two drink parlors.

"Doc' Dunn was granted the only license by the liquor commission, and for some time dispensed alcoholic drinks. He finally sold his place to 'Billy' Richards of the same place, for what was declared to be an exorbitant price. Since that time 'Billy' has been doing a big business at the old stand. For some reason or other, another citizen recently set his head upon establishing some of his friends in the saloon business, and stated that he believed there were enough people in the old village to allow the issuance of another license.

"The matter was taken up with the village council and Mayor Higgins, and Councilman Ralph Jones took what they claimed was an official census. The fact that this step reflected upon Mr. Wolfe, caused him to take another census, according to the federal census laws, and he got 877 persons on his list this time. The mayor and councilman would not show their list to council, but stated that if the seal of the mayor were placed on it, it would be sufficient. Following up their statement they brought it to the liquor commission, nicely done up with the seal of the mayor firmly impressed on the front.

"However, the council smelt a mouse, and the list compiled by Mr. Wolfe was brought to this city and checked with the census taken by the mayor, which contained 1019 names. All sorts of things were found among them, the name of a German liniment peddler who stayed in the village one night, the name of a young man who has been voting in the state of Iowa for five years, the names of several children whose mother was dead, and who have been in a convent out west for several years, and many other striking bits of evidence that they wanted two saloons in Bainbridge at any cost. However, the piece of work which capped the climax was when the names of a family who were moving from the village were listed and a family who lives outside the village and intended to move in the same house were both taken, despite the fact that the house is still vacant and the second family has not yet moved in, and now has no intention of doing so.

The list was rejected by the commissioners and Bainbridge will, for the present, at least, worry along with but one saloon.

FREIGHT DEPOT HAS BEEN FINISHED

The D. T. & I. freight depot has been completed, and as soon as the new tracks are placed in position the depot will be placed in active use. A platform and driveway are features of the new station.

So well has the old building been repaired, and covered with paint that it bears little resemblance to the old structure.

Work on the new passenger depot will be rushed, active work being resumed Tuesday afternoon after some little delay. When completed the seating capacity of the new structure is expected to be greater than the old depot.

REVENUE AGENT EXPECTED SOON

An agent from the Internal Revenue department is expected in the city within a short time, to obtain the government tax from offenders of the anti-liquor laws.

One of the agents usually passes through the city every few weeks, and whenever a conviction of bootlegging is made, the offender is compelled to pay the government tax or face charges preferred by the Federal authorities.

Twain's Rate.

Mark Twain went to just one automobile show in his life. He went with a Detroit friend. After he had been shown the cars and other sights the friend said: "Come on over here. The greatest salesman in the automobile business is working, and I want you to hear him."

They went to a place where the salesman was talking to a possible customer about the merits of his car. He was rattling outward so fast that Twain gasped.

"Sakes alive," said Twain in his slowest drawl, "if my publishers ever heard me talk as fast as that man does they wouldn't pay me 30 cents a word or even 2 cents. They'd make me produce words about a hundred for a nickel."—Saturday Evening Post.

Scandal.

How is it that the evil which men say spreads so widely and lasts so long, while our good, kind words don't seem somehow to take root and bear blossom? Is it that in the stony hearts of mankind these pretty flowers can't find a place to grow? Certain it is that scandal is good brisk talk, whereas praise of one's neighbor is by no means lively hearing. An acquaintance griled, scored, deviled and served with mustard and cayenne pepper excites the appetite, whereas a slice of cold friend with currant jelly is but a sickly, unrelishing meat.—Thackeray.

Her Dainty Speech.

There was one young woman in the box party at the theater who took no part in the noisy chatter and giggle. With her gaze fixed upon the stage she watched the progress of the play, indifferent to the gayety around her except that her delicate, aristocratic, finely chiseled features bore a look of weariness and a scornful smile curled her lips. At last, however, she turned her head slowly and looked at the other members of the party. Then she spoke to the elderly matron sitting by her side. "That chicken in the blue kimono," she said, "thinks she is the whole custard!"—Argonaut.

FUNERAL OF MR. CHARLES SEXTON

The first Baptist church was crowded Tuesday morning for the funeral of Mr. Charles Sexton. A very large family connection and many friends grieved with the sorrowing wife, brothers and sisters over the untimely death of a man in the prime of life, with business ability and many likeable traits to insure success.

Rev. A. W. West conducted a simple service and a quartet sang favorite hymns.

There was a profusion of flowers sent from far and near.

A long line of carriages followed the remains to the Sugar Creek cemetery, where the burial was made.

The pall-bearers were: Floyd Elliott, Albert Snider, Robert McCord, Eph Haines, Wm. Boyer and C. D. Yeoman.

FIFTY STUDENTS LEAVE FOR COLLEGE

The large number of Washington High school graduates now attending various colleges speaks volumes for the educational impetus given in our city's public schools.

A number of these graduates have entered college with advanced standing owing to having taken extra work and the high grade of our high school.

Over fifty students leave Washington this fall to enter their chosen alma mater.

In addition to the list of members of the class of 1914 entering college, published a few days ago, the following students will leave this month:

Lucy Roseboom, Antioch; Alden Baughn, O. S. U.; Howard Ellis, Chicago; Harold Nisely, West Point Military Academy; Marie Nisely, O. U.; Frank Reed, Miami; Ruth Wilson, O. U.; Ralph Beatty, O. S. ### MRS. BAXTERS' PARTY AWAITING STEAMER

A letter received from Mrs. Arvilla Rowé Baxter, by Mrs. Walter Ellis Sunday night, gives welcome news in regard to the safety of Mrs. Baxter and her party.

The letter was written from Milan, Italy, on the 8th of August.

The party had been able to get a little money, $50 to each person, and had received the assurance of the consulate that all Americans would be well taken care of.

The trip has been a delightful one, aside from the war inconvenience, but the tourists are quite willing to take the first available steamer for home.

RAILROAD MEN TO LOSE THEIR HEADS

It is claimed that as a result of the head-on collision between two passenger trains on the D. T. & I. near South Charleston, Sunday, that one engineer and one conductor will lose their positions, and that a suspension has already been made.

The wreck, while not serious was of a nature clearly indicative that somebody was seriously at fault.

No Fruit Without Bees.

If there were no bees, fruit trees and other plants could not produce any fruit. Apple, plum, cucumber, clover, alfalfa, alfalfa are fertilized by bees. Honey is the bait with which the bee is induced to perform this task. The colored, fragrant petals of the blossom are the advertising signboard telling the bee where the honey may be found. If the blossom is to set fruit the bee with its fuzzy body must brush some of the yellow dust called pollen from the male organs or anthers at the bottom of the blossom, deposit this pollen on the female organ called the stigma. The blossoms are so arranged that to get at the honey the bee must first brush, with its pollen covered body against the stigma, thus completing the pollination. As soon as it has performed this duty it may draw a check for the work in the form of the blossom. While drawing this pay the bee is involuntarily covered with pollen again and made ready to proceed to the next blossom and repeat the process.—Francis Jaeger.

Legend of the Peacock's Feathers.

The ill fortune said to fall upon the owners of peacocks and the wearers of peacock feathers is accounted for by an oriental legend.

The story runs after this fashion: When God created the peacock the seven deadly sins were stirred with bitter jealousy and complained loudly that the bird should be more beautiful than they.

"You are quite right," the Creator answered. "I have been unjust, for I have already given you too much. You should be as black as the night that conceals you." Whereupon he plucked out the green eye of jealousy, the yellow eye of envy and the red eye of murder and added them to the bird's feathers. So the blind sins are ever pursuing the bird to regain their eyes, and that is the reason that when men or women adorn themselves with the feathers misfortune dogs their footsteps.

Australia's Rolling Stones.

The "rolling stones" of Australia placed on a fairly smooth surface will soon roll together in a group. They contain a magnetic ore.

Both Bluffers.

She—"If you don't go away at once I shall call my husband. Peddler—I called on him first, and he threatened me with you.—Fliegende Blätter.

Eyeglass Lenses.

All lenses used in making eyeglasses by manufacturers in this country are formed from imported glass, which is secured principally from Germany. This glass is of texture and transparency so far above the products of American glass plants that the optical companies use it exclusively for their high grade work. Each blank is about two inches square and nearly one-eighth inch in thickness. In appearance it is not unlike an ordinary piece of plate glass—the edges are rough from the molds, and it has no magnifying properties. This is the work of the optical manufacturer, and it is for him to grind the glass and form it until it magnifies or refracts the object before it.—Columbus Dispatch.

The Million Dollar Mystery.

Story by Harold MacGrath. Scenario by Lloyd Lonergan.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING EPISODES.—The millionaire, Hargrave, traitor member of the "Black Hundred," makes a desperate escape from their vengeance in a balloon which is wrecked at sea. One million dollars mysteriously disappears from Hargrave's safe. The "Black Hundred" is determined to get it. They ransack Hargrave's home. Next a fiendish attempt to kidnap Florence, Hargrave's beautiful daughter, is foiled by Norton. Then, their forced entry at midnight into a lonely warehouse to rob the safe, results in the capture of all but Braine, their leader. Foiled, they cunningly lure Florence to a top floor flat, trap her, but she thwarts them. Again they scheme; Florence despairs, and Jones removes a tin box from its secret hiding place, and steals away with it. Braine and a confederate pursue him. Then follows a thrilling motor boat chase ending in a complete rout of the pursuers, Jones speeding safely away and the tin box, still unopened lying at the bottom of the sea.

EPISODE NO. 6.—THE COACHING PARTY OF THE COUNTESS.—The opening finds Braine and the Countess discussing their failures. They discover a strange man watching the Countess's apartment. Alarmed, they decide they must act quickly. They plan another scheme to get not only Florence, but Jones, too. Florence is invited by the Countess to a coaching party out to an old mansion—Jones is invited also. The members of the "Black Hundred" gather secretly at the mansion to carry out the fiendish plan. On the way the coaching party meet Norton. Fearing he knows not what, he secretly follows. The plot progresses—Florence is lured into the trap—Norton rescues her aided by Jones. The three start away on horseback, but, being discovered are immediately pursued. Jones stops and by fearless, hazardous tactics delays the pursuers, while Florence and Norton gallop away.

Never before such amazing action in Moving Pictures—and more startling portrayal will appear as each Episode is shown at this theater. $10,000.00 in cash will be awarded for the best 100 word solution of this mystery. See the pictures here. Read the story in the paper. Follow the developments each week. Then send in your solution. You have the chance to win the $10,000.00.

TROTT-PALMER BOUT

Regarding the bout between Palmer and Trott, in Columbus Monday night, the State Journal says:

"Bob Trott and Billy Palmer were scheduled for six rounds, but at the close of the first Billy cast a shoe and retired from the race. It was pretty interesting as far as it went, with both trying for a knockout in every punch."

WHY ADVERTISE NOW?

We are asked to advise, if under present conditions, advertising should be curtailed.

But each line has its own unique "present conditions." Such a question involves several forms of advice.

These are boom times in some lines. Many factories are overwhelmed with orders. Some face a demand far beyond their capacity.

Some cater largely to farmers, and farmers in general seem this year to be getting rather more than their share of prosperity. The farmer with full pockets finds nothing too good for him. He's a magnificent spender.

These fortunate advertisers who are over-sold can very wisely cut down on their advertising. There is no virtue in selling more than one can deliver.

There are other lines imported, or requiring imported materials, on which there is stoppage of supplies. There are lines which for these, or other transient reasons, sell now at abnormal prices. There are lines sold at fixed prices on which advancing costs have decimated profits for a time. On all such lines one might advise curtailment in all forms of salesmanship.

But "present conditions" in general mean a degree of depression, a shade of uncertainty. And the query is, if in such situations advertising should be curtailed or stopped. By all means no. Should a runner stop for a rising grade, or a swimmer for an adverse tide? If they did, where might their rivals in the race be when they started up?

Advertising ought to be the cheapest salesmanship. Also the most efficient. If it is that, then it is the last force to reduce. If it isn't then it needs, in good or bad times, rehabilitation.

In national advertising our most prosperous times come during business depression. Then is when men who are on the right lines fight hardest. Then is when waste is eliminated, and the cheapest and best methods are used to the limit. And then is when the weak and inefficient abandon the field to the stronger.

There may be less business to get in dull times, but there are also less men who use the best ways to get it. Some of the greatest harvests ever gathered in advertising have been garnered in times of depression.

We find that good advertising is rarely stopped by misfortune. It is ten times as often stopped by overdemand. The chief clients of this house are today pressing advertising harder than ever before.

But is this in reality any time to feel blue? Doesn't it look as though we might be on the verge of unprecedented business prosperity?

Home prospects look better than usual. Big crops at high prices bring smiles to the faces of nearly one-half of our people. The railroads got a little encouragement. Our new banking system will ward off some dangers.

Then what new boons may come to us, like gifts from the dead, as a result of this pitiful war? Reason tells us they must come if we reach out to get them. Life still flows on amid that devastation. People must be clothed and fed. And the markets abandoned by the nations which held them should be supplied by us.

When millions desert the arts of peace, those who abide, well equipped and ready, surely ought to prosper.

As for war news affecting the value of ads, it certainly doesn't detract from them. It is giving to advertisers increased circulation with no present advance in cost.

The argument that it makes newspapers too interesting is a new one in advertising. The most interesting magazines have always been the best patronized. Why should we seek for dull newspapers?

In any event, the average woman is not a great reader of war news. Her favorite pages in the newspaper remain about as ever. She is the household buyer. And the majority of advertising, even on men's things, depends on its appeal to her.

No, these are not times to cease advertising, save under rare conditions. The harder the fight the more one needs his best weapons. The more quitters there are the more there is for the rest of us. And we who keep ready and active and fit—who keep in the thick of things, dull times and good—will hold immeasurable advantage when the tide comes in.

ADMITs REVERSE AND BIG LOSSES

French War Office Reviews Operations of Past Week.

STATEMENT FRANK AND FULL

Morale Remains Excellent, It Says, and All Holes in the Ranks Have Been Filled by Reinforcements
From Army Centers—Operations in Northern France and in the Vosges Region.

Paris, Sept. 1.—The French war office issued a full, frank statement in regard to the operations of the past week. It admits several reverses and heavy losses, but says that at no point has the army been really demoralized. The morale remains excellent and all holes in the ranks have been stopped by reinforcements from the army centers. The statement says:

"In the Vosges and Lorraine regions our forces, which took up the offensive in those districts from the very start of the operations and have been repulsing the enemy to beyond our frontiers, have finally experienced a serious check before Montagne, where they ran into very strong defensive operations. Our troops had to retire to reconstitute their formations, some going to the fortified region around Nancy and some into the French Vosges. The Germans took up the offensive, but our troops, after pushing the enemy's attacks back on her already organized rear positions, were able again to assume the offensive. This attack has made progress.

"Along the Meuse region, between Verdun and Metz, the French assumed the offensive toward Longwy, Neufchateau and Halisau. Our troops operating around Spin Court and Longwy checked the enemy, notably the crown prince's army. On the contrary, around Neufchateau and Halisau some of our troops have suffered partial checks which forced them to fall back on the Meuse, but without suffering any disorganization.

"This retreat obliged our forces
which were operating around Spin Court to retreat also toward the Meuse. During the last few days the enemy sought to break through from the Meuse with considerable forces but was driven back to the river with heavy losses by our vigorous counter offensive. However, new German forces advanced by way of the Rocroi region, marching toward Rothel. At the present moment a general engagement is under way in the region between the Meuse and Rothel.

Operations in North.

"Operations in the north: The French and English force initially advanced into the Slimet-Charleroi-Mons country. Several partial checks were experienced in the forcing of the Meuse by the Germans, and around Givet, on our flank, they forced our troops to retreat. The Germans were seeking always to overflow at the west. It was under these conditions that our English allies, attacked by very superior numbers around Le Chateau and Cambrai, had to retreat south at the moment when we had operated around Khami. The retreat continued during several following days. However, a general battle was begun on Friday in the region of St. Quentin and Vervins, at the same time as in the region around Ham and Perrone, in the Homme department. This battle was marked for us by an important success at our right, where we repulsed the Prussian guard and the Tenth German corps to the Oise. But on the contrary, and always by reason of the German right wing, where the enemy has collected its best army corps, we have had to make another movement of retreat."

MANY FLEE FROM PARIS

Paris, Sept. 1.—Lines of anxious noncombatants, anxious to leave the city before the beginning of the siege, stretched for many blocks from the railroad stations. Thousands of persons already have left the capital and thousands more are preparing to leave. During the night the lines at the ticket windows of the railroads began to form. These people intend to stay in line until they have purchased their tickets on outgoing trains. They have been notified that it may be two days before they leave, but they have their hand baggage and food ready to stand a short siege
now, rather than a longer one later.

A cheerful side of the picture is the assurance given out by the authorities that in the eventuality of a siege Paris is in far better shape in regard to the food supply than in 1870. There are large stocks of flour, cattle, general provisions and coal actually within the city gates and large stores continue to arrive every day. The water supply has been protected against any attempts of the Germans to cut it off.

'LEGGERS ARRESTED

Bellefontaine, O., Sept. 1.—Seven men and three women, including a druggist, were arrested in bootlegging raids made by the county sheriff and prosecuting attorney in this city and at Lakeview. One man arrested was charged with selling liquor from a market basket.

WILSON RETURNS

Windsor, Vt., Sept. 1.—President Wilson left for Washington today, refreshed and cheered by his sojourn in Cornish, N. H. Quiet and rain have marked most of his stay, but the last day was ideal.

WOUNDS IN WAR.

Those Caused by Shrapnel Are Most Liable to Infection.

A French doctor who went through the recent Balkan war gives an interesting account of wounds and how they are got.

Dr. Laurent's experience shows that in modern warfare, where the soldier fires under cover as much as possible, lying prone in a trench, bullets from the enemy either hit him on the head or catch his hands. The right hand is protected by the rifle, so that it is the left that gets hurt.

Many soldiers have had their lives saved by the chance presence of a pocketbook filled with papers or even of a metallic cigarette case in the left breast pocket of their tunic. Super-posed sheets of paper have always constituted, even in ancient wars, an excellent shield.

Dr. Laurent's statistics show from 82 to 84 per cent of bullet wounds, from 15 to 17 per cent of shrapnel wounds and 1 per cent of wounds by cold steel. Infection by the projectile was observed in 40 per cent of cases by shrapnel and from 10 to 28 per cent of bullet wounds.

The number of wounds cured without any complication was 75 per cent.
Shrapnel bullets have a much less penetrative force than rifle bullets, at any rate when the shrapnel does not burst close to the soldier. Shrapnel bullets are very often found embedded in the clothes, but never rifle bullets.

Running a Ship Without a Crew.

It is reported from Germany that a successful test has been made of a device whereby a vessel may be run without a crew. A transmitter with a mast similar to that used in wireless telegraphy "commands" the ship, and this operates systematically during a period of hours. The ship turns to the right and left, backs and comes to a stop as if run by a man in the engine room. Multicolored lights show the maneuvers to the men ashore. This invention was primarily intended for use in connection with the discharge of torpedoes, but now, it is thought, it may serve as a medium for the control of dirigible balloons.—New York Tribune.

CARDINAL DELLA VOLPE
HEAD OF CHURCH UNTIL
NEW POPE IS ELECTED.
Cardinal Francesco Della Volpe, as camerlengo (chamberlain), is now the acting head of the Roman Catholic church. He will conduct affairs until the conclave elects a new pope.
He is sixty-nine years old. He was at the time of his elevation to the cardinalate the maggiordomo of the pope and controlled the whole administration of the papal residence, supervising the Vatican employees. He had held that position for eight years having previously been the maestro di camera, the official who has charge of arranging for papal audiences.
Many Americans, who visited Rome when Cardinal Della Volpe held this office remember his affable manner and courteous attention. He has spent all his life in Rome. He is archbishop of Bologna.

PLANNING REVENUES

Ways and Means Committee Preparing New Revenue Bill.

Washington, Sept. 1.—A stamp tax on soft drinks as well as beer and patent medicines is contemplated by members of the house ways and means committee, which is preparing an emergency internal revenue bill to offset treasury losses due to curtailment of imports. It is urged that soft drinks are as much luxuries as wines or beer and that an equitable distribution of the tax burden among all consumers would be accomplished by this plan.

Another suggestion is a stamp tax of 5 or 10 per cent on railroad tickets and admission to theatres, baseball parks and other licensed amusements. It is estimated that from $50-000,000 to $80,000,000 could be raised in this way.

The committee has not determined upon a complete taxation plan as yet, but purposes to hasten its deliberations so a bill may be introduced soon after President Wilson addresses congress on the subject. Administration leaders are impressed with the necessity of quick action in order to disturb business conditions as little as possible. Democrats of the senate will discuss the emergency in a party caucus to be called later this week.

A doubling of the present tax on beer, it is estimated by treasury experts, would produce $65,000,000.
Some committee members, however,
feel that taxation of commodities
other than beer and patent medicines would cause less popular friction.

Something Doing in Baseball.

Long before "play ball" is called for the first game of the 1915 season the Federal league will be taken in by the forces of organized baseball. This is a prediction rather than a statement of positive fact, but stick a pin in it just the same and then sit tight and await developments. Though they are not yet ready to admit it, tentative plans to bring about a permanent truce between the leagues have been discussed, and a fulfillment of arrangements will be made after the close of the current season.—Ed A. Geowey in Leslie's.

A Busy Philadelphia Street.

A total of 1,000 children between the ages of six and sixteen is the remarkable record of one block in the Third school district, South Philadelphia, as shown by the report of the bureau of compulsory education just completed.
The report also sets forth that in a nearby block eighteen languages are spoken among the school children.

Bats and Fans.

The ordinary folding fan was invented in the seventh century by a Japanese artist, who derived the idea from watching a bat closing its wings.

TACOMA BLAZE

By Associated Press.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 1.—At 1:45 this morning the big plant of the Carsten Packing Company, one of the largest in the west, is threatened with total destruction by fire. Practically all the city apparatus is fighting the blaze.

The fire was later said to be under control and the loss is estimated at from $700,000 to $1,000,000. Hundreds of heads of cattle, sheep and hogs were run out of the pens and saved.

LEGEND OF THE TEAPOT.

Origin of the Beverage as the Tale is Told In China.

The Chinese claim to be the first users of tea as a drink, and now it originated is told in a pretty little legend that dates from 2,000 years before the coming of Christ.

A daughter of a then reigning sovereign fell in love with a young nobleman whose humble birth excluded him from marrying her. They managed to exchange glances, and he occasionally gathered a few blossoms and had them conveyed to her.

One day in the palace garden the sweethearts met, and the young man endeavored to give her a few flowers, but so keen was the watchfulness of her attendants that all she could grasp was a little twig with green leaves.

On reaching her room she put the twig in water, and toward evening she drank the water in which the twig had been kept. So agreeable was the taste that she even ate the leaves and stalks. Every day afterward she had bunches of the tea tree brought to her, which she treated in the same way.

Imitation being the sincerest form of flattery, the ladies of the court tried the experiment and with such pleasing results that the custom spread throughout the kingdom—and the great Chinese tea industry became one of the greatest businesses in the world.—London Tit-Bits.

PAINT THE SCREW HOLES.

Then You Can Use Them Over and Over Again Without Trouble.

Many persons experience considerable difficulty in getting screws to hold in screen doors and other movable conveniences which are put up and taken down frequently and which are held in place by screws. The holes occupied by the screws become worn, and the screws are often quite loose, causing doors to sag and be otherwise out of proper order.

Bits of paper, strings and small pieces of wood are used to partially fill up the holes so as to cause the screws to be tight, but these work out and cause great annoyance, and a better method is greatly desired.

A coat of paint on the inside of the screw holes is the most satisfactory remedy for such an annoyance.

When screws are removed paint the holes with a small pencil brush or a bit of cloth twisted and dipped in the paint. When the paint fills the creases made by the threads on the screw and thoroughly dries the screw will fit tightly the next time it is thrust into the cavity. The painting should be done each time the screws are removed, and it will protect the wood as well as make the holes ready for the readjustment of the door or other object which has to be changed quite often.—Philadelphia North American.

Useful Shoes.

It would be difficult to realize what the Frieslander would do without his klompen or wooden shoes, for they have a hundred uses. With them he balls out his boat, corrects his children and scoops up a drink of water wherever he may be. He places in them his worms for fishing, uses them as missiles in a free fight, measures dry goods with them and a hundred other things. The klompen are cheap. They cost about 15 pence a pair, man's size, and Dutchman's feet are no Cinderella-like by any means.—Wide World Magazine.

ST. PETERSBURG FOREVER CHANGES HER NAME TO SNUB THE TEUTON

Czar's Capital Will Hereafter be Known As "Petrograde."—Russians Threaten To Utterly Destroy City of Berlin to Avenge Louvain.

By Associated Press.

London, Sept. 1.—Today, on the eve of the anniversary of the capitulation of Sedan, three million troops are battling on the French frontier—the Germans in a headlong effort to celebrate the day with a drastic success; the French backed by their British allies, to avenge their defeat of forty-four years ago.

That the Germans have gained ground in the encircling movement on the French left wing is admitted by the French Foreign Office, but it is asserted also that after a three days' battle in this region the Anglo-French line, although pushed back, still remains unbroken.

Washington, September 1.—A German victory at Allenstein, in which three Russian army corps were defeated and 70,000 prisoners, including two Russian commanding generals were taken, was reported today to the German Embassy from Berlin by wireless by way of Sayville, Long Island. The dispatch says: "Official report of the victory at Allenstein shows that it was even greater than known before. Three Russian army corps were annihilated. 70,000 prisoners were taken including two commanding generals, 300 officers and the complete artillery of the Russian army."

"The Brazilian military attache at Berlin writes that the German victory did not come as a surprise to those who witnessed their maneuvers in peace and declared that the effect of the Krupps heavy artillery is astonishing."

London, September 1.—The correspondent of the Express telegraphed from the Hague saying: "There is the greatest alarm in Berlin over the advance of the Russian troops. The news that the Emperor has left the western headquarters and moved to the Russian front as shown the residents of the capital where the immediate peril to their safety lies. A story has been circulated that the Russians are preparing to avenge Louvain by treating the city of Berlin in the same way as the Germans treated that city. Many of the populace who can get away are going to Norway, Denmark and Switzerland."

FRENCH BEGIN ANOTHER ADVANCE

Washington, September 1.—The French Ambassador, J. J. Jusserand, today received this official dispatch from Paris: "In the Vosges and in Lorraine our troops began advance again yesterday. At Sassey, on the Meuse, a regiment of German infantry nearly annihilated. On our left wing German progress made. Russian offensive advance progressing."

ROBBED NICELY

By Associated Press.

New York, Sept. 1.—The Italian steamer, Principessa Masalda, chartered by John E. Jones, American Consul at Genoa, at a cost of $184,000, reached New York today from Italy with 388 wealthy Americans aboard and unoccupied cabins with space for 200 more. Some of the passengers paid $7,000 for a cabin. None paid less than $100 and the average cost to all aboard was approximately $500.

DOORS CLOSED BY CARDINALS

By Associated Press.

Rome, September 1.—The doors of the conclave hall, behind which the College of Cardinals gathered last night to elect a successor to the late Pope Pius, were still closed this morning. Not until a new Pope has been chosen will they be opened, or any news of the result of the proceedings be given out. Behind the portals the Cardinals last night prayed for inspiration to enable them to choose a Pope who would fulfill the requirements of his high office, both from the standpoint of the church and that of humanity.

WIRELESS FAILS TO SERVE PURPOSE

Passengers Kept Ignorant of Danger Until Chicago Pier Is Sighted at Dawn—Capt. Bjork Forces Men and Crew to Allow Women and Children to Escape First.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The lives of 300 passengers of the excursion boat, City of Chicago, which caught fire out twelve miles from this harbor in Lake Michigan at 5 o'clock this morning were saved by the resourcefulness of Captain Oscar Bjork. His wireless failing to work the Captain ordered the engines full speed ahead and forty-five minutes later the big boat, with a carrying capacity of 2,600 passengers, sank her bow into the government pier and was wedged fast.

All through the ordeal the officers and crew stuck to their posts, although the stokers and engineers were choking with the smoke and flames were bursting from the upper works.

To avoid panic the passengers, nearly all of whom were asleep, were not notified to come on deck until the pier was dimly visible through the morning mist.

"Women and children first," shouted the captain and the male passengers, as well as the crew, stood back. The passengers descended to the pier which forms a long breakwater at the entrance to the harbor and later were brought into the city by a rescuing craft. The flames were subdued after three hours fight by the city fire tugs.

GERMANS MARSHAL MOSLEM

By Associated Press.

Rome, September 1.—A telegram received in Rome from Berlin announces the mobilization of the Turkish army. Following the advice of Field Marshal Baron von der Goltz, it is estimated the Turkish government will form an army of the first line composed of 200,000 men, all Mohammedans.

Seventy-two superior German officers, forming the German military mission at Constantinople, have been incorporated in the Turkish army and in the army is interpreted to mean will participate in the war.

The presence of the German officers that Turkey will fight on the side of the Germans.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The British Embassy has been informed by a cable from London that the German officers have gone to Constantinople to take charge of the Turkish army and that a declaration of war from Turkey was expected. Plans are already under way to ask the American Ambassador at Constantinople to take charge of British interests there.

"Today, Sedan day, was celebrated here with jubilation because of the victorious news which arrived from the east and west last night. The Russian defeat at Ortelburg recalls Sedan by the huge number of prisoners taken."

BEY DOUBTFUL

Berlin Reports the Capture of 30,000 Russians in a Series of Engagements in East Prussia—Austrians Also Claim Victory in Battles With Russians—Troops Pouring Into Paris to Defend Forts—Operations at the Front.

London, Sept. 1.—According to a dispatch from Antwerp, General Pau won a brilliant victory over 50,000 Germans at Peronne. This is the first successful move of the allies' effort to stem the onrush of the German right wing pushing toward Paris from the north.

According to the brief report of the engagement, General Pau, hurrying from the frontier lines in the south with fresh troops, crossed the Somme river 30 miles from Amiens, in the department of the Somme, and struck a heavy blow at a division of General Von Kluck's army.

The German line had approached within 60 miles of Paris, but if the allies succeed in supporting the offensive movement of General Pau the invaders will be forced to stay their march to prevent their right from being outflanked.

AUSTRIANS CRUSHED

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 1.—It is reported that the Austrians have suffered an irreparable defeat at Zamose, in Russian Poland, fifty miles southeast of Lublin.

the Germans with the right wing and center of her army. The object of the attack was to offset the reverses to the British and French troops in the north. The French right defeated the Germans and drive them into retreat. On the center a general engagement is being fought, so far without decisive result.

German forces engaged the French on a ninety-five mile line from Villers, department of the Somme, to Montherme, department of Ardennes. An official announcement declares that the allies are holding their own in this conflict.

France has called 600,000 additional reservists to the colors. These forces will be equipped and ready for the field in a few days. Large bodies of troops have been arriving in Paris from southern and western France to defend the city. Reinforcing columns were sent immediately to positions in the encircling fortifications.

Germans Claim Big Victory.

It was officially announced here that about 30,000 Russians had been taken prisoner by the Germans during the fighting in East Prussia, particularly at Ortelburg, Hohenstein and Tannenburg. They include many officers of high rank. The German attack at these three points was across swamps and lakes.

The following account of Austrian operations has been obtained in Berlin from an official Austrian source: "In the Austro-Russian theater of war decisive battles have been in progress for several days. Our forces, which were victorious near Krasnik, pursued the Russians in the direction of Lublin. The Austrians advanced also into the enemy's territory between the rivers Bug and Wleprz, and we have taken positions in front of Zamose. Other contingents of the Austrian army hold their positions northeast and southwest of Lemberg. After crossing the Dniester they encountered great forces of the enemy."

TURKS STAY OUT

London, Sept. 1.—The Turkish embassy here has issued an emphatic denial of the report that Turkey intends to enter the general European war as an ally of Germany. The Ottoman embassy says Turkey has no such intention and adds that the position of the porte has been communicated to the British government.

THE RUSSIANS ARE SMASHED

Philadelphia, Sept. 1.—Details of a rout of five Russian army corps by three Austrian corps were received at the Austro-Hungarian consulate in this city from the foreign office at Vienna. The report says:

"There has been a great battle fought, as a result of which Bukovina has been entirely cleared of Russian troops. Twenty thousand Austrians defeated a much larger force of Russians. The main Austrian army is on a line with Lublin. A great battle of seventy hours' duration has been fought at Krasnik along a front of fourteen miles. The Austrian army corps completely defeated, routed and almost annihilated five Russian army corps. At the last reports the Russians were flying in the direction of Lublin and the Austrian victors were pressing them hard, hoping to cut off their communications with Warsaw. The Austrian army now occupies Krasnik, Kielze and Lublin."

WAR OVER IS CLAIM

Adds Kaiser Is Ready For Peace at Any Moment.

New York, Sept. 1.—Count Johann Von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, issued this statement:

"The war has been fought and won; Germany did not begin the war; she did not want the war; she is ready for peace at any moment. The coalition has been defeated in western Europe. German defeat now on land is out of the question.

"The aims of the German general staff have been attained. The allies have been so badly and so suddenly worsted that Germany is free to withdraw, as she has begun to do, great numbers of men to ward off the Russian invasion. German victory means a great advance of democracy in the empire. The nation can never forget how the whole people rose as one man against an unjust attack."

WILSON TO SEEK A SECOND TERM

Will Be Candidate For Democratic Nomination In 1916.

OPPOSITION SEEMS UNLIKELY

President Believes It the Duty of a Chief Executive to Submit His Administration to the People of the Country So That They May Express Their Approval or Disapproval of the Same.

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Wilson will be a candidate for a second presidential term. Definite information that Mr. Wilson has expressed himself as believing it the duty of a chief executive to submit his administration to the people of the country so that they may express their approval or disapproval, became known from an authoritative source.

It was before Mrs. Wilson's death that the president expressed himself to a friend on the subject of a second presidential term. Since then some persons in touch with the administration have feared that, disheartened by the death of Mrs. Wilson and by the drain upon his strength made by the ever increasing round of official duties, he might prefer other scenes and a less strenuous life at the end of his term.

Those who are familiar with the president's character are convinced that he will stand by the views expressed by him with regard to a second term. They are convinced now that if, by the time of the nominating primaries and conventions of 1916, Mr. Wilson is in anything like normal health, he will go before the people and ask them to pass verdict on his administration.

Political leaders both within and without the Democratic party concede that if Mr. Wilson is a candidate for the Democratic nomination he will not be seriously opposed. From an authoritative source it has been learned that not long ago Secretary of State Bryan expressed the view that if the Wilson administration was a success Mr. Wilson could have the Democratic nomination for the asking, and that if the administration did not measure up to public expectations the nomination would not be worth having for anybody else.

48TH ENCAMPMENT

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—After an intermission of twenty-three years the Grand Army of the Republic is again the honored guest of this city. The veterans are here from nearly every state in the Union to attend the forty-eighth national encampment. Those in charge of the encampment said that the early attendance is even larger than predicted. The following past commanders are said to be in the race for commander: C. W. Blodgett, Ohio; David J. Palmer, Iowa; O. A. Somers, Indiana; Frank O. Cole, New Jersey; P. H. Coney, Kansas, and Thomas H. Soward, Oklahoma.

RETIREES BARNES

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 1.—It is said that Colonel Roosevelt believes he is responsible for the retirement of William Barnes as Republican state chairman. The colonel is confident that it is his battling against Barnes which caused the latter to decide not to be a candidate again for his post with the Republican party.

SHORTHAND BLUNDERS.

Misplaced or Wrong Vowels Lead to Queer Translations.

A volume could be filled with amusing stories of shorthand mistakes, the greater number of them due to mistaken vowels. For instance, "This day is big with fate" was transcribed "This day is big with fat," while "Do not indulge in spite" came out "Do not indulge in spit," and "A house of many gables" was transcribed into "A house of many gabbles."

The use of the wrong vowel may have the most amusing result, as in the phrase "Man, know thyself," which was once converted in the report of a sermon into "Man, gnaw thyself." To misplace a vowel is in shorthand the easiest thing in the world. T. A. Reed, the well known reporter, tells of a pupil who by this means turned "mighty acts" into "mighty cats," and another report of a sermon was spoiled by the advice "Return a blow with an ax," instead of "a kiss."

The "reporting style," in which the vowels are omitted altogether for the sake of rapidity, is responsible for the famous American story of the shorthand clerk who took down a note of his wife's instruction to "be sure to remember to bring home some castle soap" and, as a result, returned home with a tin of oxtail soup!—London Strand Magazine.

BOTH SIGNED THE NOTE.

A Financial Formality That Puzzled Both Clay and Webster.

The men in official Washington seem to have less of a halo about them than in the good old days, when the towering form of Webster or Henry Clay would attract more attention on Pennsylvania avenue than a brass band or a tango dancer in 1914. In a bank the other day I saw a note indorsed jointly by Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. The story is told that Clay asked Webster to indorse a note with him for $500.

"All right," said the studious and thoughtful Webster, "I'll do so, Clay, if you'll make it $1,000 and give me half." Clay agreed to the compact, and the two set out for Banker Riggs, signed the note with due solemnity and secured the proceeds. As they swung across the threshold out again on the avenue and divided the money Webster in his ponderous voice remarked to Clay, "Henry, why do you suppose Mr. Riggs wanted our names on that note?"

"It baffles me, Daniel," responded Clay. "Perhaps he desired some memento to hand down to posterity, for I cannot at this moment conceive how it is going to be paid for the present generation."

The canceled note is today a valued souvenir, worth many times its face, because of the illustrious signers.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

WOLVES OF LABRADOR.

Story of a Child and the Squaws Who Tried to Save Her.

A Labrador missionary, says Mortimer Batten in the Wide World Magazine, told me a curious story which occurred on the Labrador coast some years ago. One night the little daughter of a certain brave was missing, and, on discovering the child's tracks in the snow, a party of squaws set out to look for her.

What was their alarm when, a little way from camp, they found that the footprints of a great gray wolf accompanied those of the child. The brute did not appear to have harmed her, but had apparently frisked along ahead, enticing the child farther and farther from camp. In all probability the child mistook it for a dog and followed readily, though the superstitious Indians, of course, believed that the brute had exercised some devilish influence over her.

Darkness was creeping on and, though much afraid, the squaws continued to follow the tracks of the wolf and the child. Night found them far from home, when what was their horror to find that they themselves had been deceived and were now surrounded by wolves!

Only one squaw survived the night of horror that ensued to return next morning to bear tidings of the calamity to camp.

Time To Be Patient

It is well for the American people, during these troublous times of war, to weigh carefully, before expressing their opinion too emphatically, any statement which comes out from the war zone about outrages perpetrated by the troops of either one of the warring nations.

Especially is this true with regard to reported indignities or worse suffered by American citizens.

Several times there have been reports, apparently authentic, about American travelers being held up by troops and compelled to submit to indignities and endure open insults, reports about the confiscation of baggage and personal belongings of American travelers on the continent. Reports of rough treatment suffered by Americans at the hands of German soldiers and German officials have been numerous since hostilities began and many of the excitable citizens here at home were quick to believe, take offense and express threats of violence on account of such reports.

Later information has in almost every instance proved the first reports which so excited the ire of the American people to have been utterly groundless.

Every European nation now engaged in war, through both its civil and military authorities, has been uniformly courteous and respectful to citizens of this nation. On every hand so far as it was possible to do so in view of the disordered conditions, the officials both civil and military, of the German Empire have shown American travelers every courtesy possible and assisted them in every way within their power in getting out of the war torn country, according to reports of travelers who have returned home.

Americans should bear in mind that chaotic disorder reigns within the borders of the warring nations and especially in Germany was the confusion appalling just after the fighting commenced. Troops were being mobilized and every public place and public conveyance was pressed into use in the work of gathering together and moving the Kaiser's vast army.

Every nation in Europe is anxious to retain America's friendship and our people may rest assured that no American who attends to his own affairs will be molested.

Someone of the great nations, someone great household of the family must keep cool and be ready to assist in shaping the peace terms and that duty is put upon this nation and this household by common consent of all the great nations. Our aim should be to avoid trouble, not to seek it.

Before the people of this land declare themselves in favor of taking up arms to avenge some reported insult to an American citizen, they should have the report confirmed beyond all doubt and then make up their minds to endure some slight affronts—excuse them on the ground that the perpetrators are beside themselves with the mad frenzy of war—rather than insist on plunging this people into the frightful maelstrom of war.

We must be patient; we must be forgiving and above all else, we must refuse to express anger and hostility on every wild report of misdeeds by the troops of the warring nations.

Day of Big Naval Ship Passed; Submarine Its Foe

By Admiral Sir PERCY SCOTT of England

WHEN the question of whether battleships should be large or small was publicly under discussion many people wrote to me for my views on the subject. I replied that, in my opinion, the time had arrived when we should cease building battleships and spend the money in increasing the number of our air craft and submarines.

MANY NAVAL OFFICERS HAVE WRITTEN THAT THEY AGREE WITH ME. ON THE OTHER HAND, MANY CRITICS HAVE EXPRESSED OPINIONS THAT I AM PREMATURE, THAT I HAVE ASSUMED WHAT MAY BE A POSSIBILITY IN THE FUTURE MAY BE A FACT OF TODAY, THAT IN WARFARE THE TORPEDO HAS BEEN DISAPPOINTING, THAT THE SUBMARINE IS BLIND, SLOW AND EASILY DESTROYED.

None of my critics has given a satisfactory explanation of what our battleships would or could do if we should be at war with a nation well equipped with submarines.

Poetry For Today

THE ALLIES.

Yoked in knowledge and remorse now
we come to rest,
Laughing at old villainies that Time
has turned to jest;
Pardoning old necessity no pardon
can efface—
That undying sin we shared in Rouen market place.
Now we watch the new years shape, wondering if they hold Piercer lightnings in their hearts
than we launched of old.
Now we hear new voices rise, question,
boast or gird,
As we raged (rememberest thou?)
when our crowds were stirred.
Now we count new keels afloat, and
new hosts on land,
Massed like our (rememberest thou?)
when our strokes were planned,
We were schooled for dear life's sake
to know each other's blade,
What can blood and iron make more than we have made?
We have learned by keenest use to know each other's mind,
What shall blood and iron loose that we cannot bind?
We who swept each other's coast, sacked each other's home,
Since the sword of Brennus clashed
on the scales at Rome.
Listen, count and close again, wheeling girth to girth,
In the linked and steadfast guard set for peace on earth!
—Rudyard Kipling.

ORIGIN OF THE CURFEW.

The Cover Fire Bell Was Rung Way Back in King Alfred's Time.

What is the curfew? Its etymology carries its history with it. The word comes from the French couvre-feu (cover fire), a bell tolled at evening as a signal to the inhabitants to cover fires, extinguish lights and retire to rest. It is erroneously said to have been instituted in England by William the Conqueror as an arbitrary bit of tyranny, and the nursery historian has waxed sentimental over the wrongs of the conquered Saxon, and conjured up pictures that must be balm to the downtrodden Celt. Even Thomson tells us:

The shivering wretches at the curfew sound
Dejected sunk into their sordid beds.

But the couvre-feu was known before William's time, both in England and on the continent. He did, indeed, issue an edict on the subject, and although this edict may incidentally have helped to put down the Saxon beer clubs, which were hotbeds of political conspiracies, its primary aim was as a precaution against fire. That danger was an ever present one in those days of chimneyless wooden houses.

The ancient city ordinances of London abound in stringent fire regulations. None of them, however, was more effective than the "cover fire" bell, which as far back as the time of King Alfred was rung in certain places in England. William's edict rendered compulsory an ancient custom. But it was a wise legislative act and not a bit of arbitrary tyranny. We find plenty of early traces of the custom or its equivalent, as, for instance, the blowing of a horn at the market place in continental Europe.

Victimized by Changing Times.

"Now, then, Cousin Emma, let me give you a bit off the breast."
"Yes, please, I should like to taste that, for in my young days they always gave it to the grownups, and now they keep it for the children, so I've always missed it."—London Punch.

CARDINALS AT VATICAN

Rome, Sept. 1.—Preliminary to the election of a new pope fifty-seven cardinals, thirty-one Italians and twenty-six foreigners, are assembled at the vatican. Among those absent are Cardinals O'Connell and Gibbons of the United States. They will arrive Thursday.

Although the greatest secrecy surrounds the election of the new pope, the cardinals being walled up in the conclave apartments in the court of St. Damaso, vatican authorities are unanimous in declaring the selection has narrowed down to the choice of one of nine cardinals. The new pope, it is declared, is certain to be chosen from among the following cardinals—Maffi, Gaspari, Ferrari, Luadi, Ferrata, Cassetta, Agliardi, Serafini and Pompili.

WORLDS OF THE UNIVERSE.

All Might Be Annihilated and Not Affect the Solar Systems.

I am asked, "Are distant stars which shine by their own light visible only, or are worlds like our earth visible by reflected light?"

Go out to Neptune, our own last local world in our modest solar system; turn around, look back this way; then you must have a large telescope to see the earth. Only the sun of all bodies in our solar system is visible from space depths. And it looks like the point of the finest sewing needle from stellar distances.

Thus from space depths only suns at terrific heat are visible in any telescope, even the largest that can be made. Then all worlds are invisible and unknown. The earth and man are both totally unknown to people on worlds revolving around any of the hundreds of millions of other suns, if there are such worlds and inhabitants. Imagine that there are 1,000,000,000 suns, each surrounded by eight worlds like those revolving now around our sun. Then if an accident suddenly annihilated the 8,000,000,000 worlds, people and all, the accident could not even be noticed. The suns would all move on with velocities in between four and eighty miles per second precisely as if there had been no accident. Thus if there are intelligences in the depths of the sidereal universe they have not heard of man nor his infinitesimal world—the earth.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

Steel Rail Inventor.

The first modern steel rails of the type which made high speed railway operation possible were designed by Plimmon Henry Dudley, who was born at Freedom, O., in 1843. He became a civil and metallurgical engineer, and after four years as chief engineer of the city of Akron, O., he turned his attention to railroading and transportation problems. His first invention, the dynamograph, was made in 1874. He perfected the track indicator in 1880 and three years later designed the first five inch steel rail used in America. In 1892 he introduced the first six inch 100 pound rails. Another of his inventions which made the famous "fliers" of today possible was the streamatograph, an instrument for obtaining and registering strains in rails under moving trains.

FARES TO BE 3 CTS.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Passenger rates on eastern railroads will be increased within the next thirty or sixty days. Following the suggestion made in the recent decision of the interstate commerce commission on the advanced rate case, in which the commission set forth that passenger rates were not compensatory, the carriers have got together and compiled new tariffs. The new rate will call for 3 instead of 2 cents a mile.

RINGS OF AIR.

How to Blow Out a Lighted Candle Twelve Feet Away.

The distance from which an average man can blow out a candle rarely exceeds three feet. If he is an adept at blowing smoke rings, however, a candle may be extinguished at twelve feet. Of course the smoke isn't necessary. An ordinary air ring will do and has the added advantage of being invisible. Simply pucker the mouth as you would to blow a smoke ring and expel air in a quick, sharp manner. It takes a good deal of practice to do it.

An easier way to show the effect if one is doubtful is to place a sheet of cloth or canvas over the open side of a box otherwise closed, making a small, round hole in another side. Then tap in a sharp manner on the canvas and invisible air rings will be produced. If the hole is pointed at a person's face and the rings are made he will feel them as they strike his face. Only a few trials are necessary to extinguish a candle at twelve feet. To render the rings visible a smudge may be burned in the box, or a small dish of ammonia may be placed side by side with a small dish of hydrochloric acid, the combined fumes of these liquids making a dense smoke.

The explanation why one can put out the candle at twelve feet is that the energy of expulsion is conserved and practically all retained in the smoke ring, while a simple blowing has to set in motion a whole stream of air and is therefore wasteful.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Ten Years' Penance.

It is happily seldom that the revenge of a disappointed husband takes quite such an extreme form as in the case of the man whose wife ran thus: "When I remember that the only happy times I ever enjoyed were when my wife sulked with me, and when I remember that my married life might, for this reason, be considered to have been a fairly happy one because she was nearly always sulking, I am constrained to forget the repulsion the contemplation of her face inspired me with and leave her the sum of $50,000 on condition that she undertakes to pass two hours a day at my graveside for the ten years following my decease, in company with her sister, whom I have reason to know she loathes worse than she does myself."—London Tit-Bits.

Easy Dusting.

"Yes, ma'am," was the girl's reply, "but I've lost the duster, and so I am sitting on each of the chairs in turn."—Harper's Magazine.

MANY PROBLEMS EXPECTED TO CONFRONT CONFERENCE

Help For Foreign Missionary Forces to be Considered—Bishop Anderson is Unable to Leave Europe—Local Preparations for Annual Ohio M. E. Conference Now Well in Hand.

When the annual Ohio Methodist Episcopal Conference meets in this city September 16th, a number of weighty problems will receive attention, one of the principal matters being the formulation of plans for relief of suffering missionary forces in the Orient, whose troubles have suddenly become ten-fold greater by the European war.

In an appeal from the Missionary Board of the church, measures for relief have been asked for, and the appeal indicates that the sufferings of the missionary forces are liable to become much greater as the great struggle proceeds in Europe.

Bishop Anderson, who was first mentioned as the presiding bishop at the conference, is with his family in Europe, and the last heard from him was while he was in Switzerland, unable to leave the country. He had been detailed to visit various missionary posts of the church in Africa and other countries, but it is believed he will not be able to complete his journey, and may even fail to get out of the troubled European countries. Bishop Anderson and family are virtually prisoners in Europe. Bishop Thirkield, of New Orleans, will preside over the conference.

Rev. Ross and the official Board of Grace church have been very busy preparing for the approaching Conference, and plans are shaping nicely.

Including supernuaries, supernumeraries and candidates for admission,

there will be about 225 in attendance at the Ohio conference. In addition, there will be a number of members of church boards and auxiliary organizations. Laymen, however, will not be in great numbers, excepting those on the board of stewards. The quadrennial electoral conference of the laymen will be held soon, but the time and place have not been fixed.

Not many changes will be made in pastorates this year in the Ohio conference, it is said. Twelve changes throughout the conference, it is believed, will be the limit. These will be the result of the necessity for the appointment of four new district superintendents. Lancaster, Zanesville, Chillicothe and Marietta districts are to be supplied in this respect, the vacancies being made by the expiration of terms.

Speaking of the condition of foreign missionaries, Dr. A. M. Courtenay, superintendent of the Columbus district, says:

"At present the effect of the war on the missionary work of the Methodist Episcopal church is great. It may be said that our work has been rent asunder practically. But the church in this country is praying daily for an end to the war, and we live in hope that that end soon may come. When the Ohio conference meets, no sides in the conflict will be taken. There is no side we can support. All we can do is to express ourselves as deploring the war, and we shall continue to pray for its end. Our sympathies are with all the people whose suffering must be the result. We know that there are Methodists fighting against Methodists. It is probable that there are more Methodists in the German army than in armies of any of the other countries."

DEATH FOLLOWS STROKE OF PARALYSIS

Mr. Harry Morman, at one time actively associated with Washington's business and social interests, and since leaving this city to make his home in the West, frequently returning to visit his family, died Sunday evening at Cincinnati.

Ten days ago Mr. Morman, while in Cincinnati, had a stroke of paralysis and was taken to one of the hospitals.

From the first there was no hope of recovery.

Funeral services were held at the old home of the Mormans in Jamestown, at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning and burial was made in the Jamestown cemetery.

Mr. Bert Ellis and Mrs. Alice Morman went over from here to attend the funeral and Dr. and Mrs. H. Sterling Moore and son, William, came up from Batavia.

TO MOVE ELEVATOR IN NEAR FUTURE

Work on the new foundation for the Cissna elevator, near the D. T. & I. depot, is well under way, and within the next few weeks the big elevator will be hoisted and set back some 30 feet to the new foundation, in order to give the D. T. & I. room for additional trackage and a wagon road along the tracks.

Arrangements for moving are well under way, and business is being transacted without interruption.

Long before the corn husking season opens it is expected that the elevator will be ready to take its usual amount of grain.

A number of improvements are to be added to the elevator plant.

EXCITING RUNAWAY EARLY THIS MORNING

A team attached to a farm wagon became frightened on East Court street about 7:30 Tuesday morning, and a moment later was dashing up through the city with the man in charge making a vain attempt to stop them.

The rumble of the wagon and rattle of galloping hoofs gave warning of the approach of the runaway team and all rigs and pedestrians drew aside to give the runaways free rein.

The team passed out West Court street, crossing the D. T. & I. just ahead of the morning passenger train and turning out Clinton avenue. The man, who was seated upon the running gears of the wagon, finally brought the team to a stop just west of the city, with no particular damage resulting, although several near collisions added much to the excitement of the run.

ARTERY SEVERED WHEN DRILL BREAKS

Geo. Miller, employed at the Kyle Manufacturing plant, suffered a painful and dangerous injury, Monday afternoon, when a drill with which he was working snapped, and cut a deep gash across the left wrist, severing the artery.

Before he could be rushed to a physician's office he had lost much blood, and became deathly ill. It required a number of stitches to close the gaping wound.

Prompt action on the part of those who were nearby prevented the man from bleeding to death before the wound could be stopped by the physician in attendance.

CENSUS PROVES UNRELIABLE BAINBRIDGE IS UNCHANGED

That there is not enough residents in Bainbridge to permit the operation of two saloons, has finally been determined after a census has been taken three times.

The interesting story of the affair is given by the Scioto Gazette, as follows:

"The whole matter, according to a well known Bainbridge citizen, came up in the following way: When the inhabitants of Bainbridge found out that, according to the new laws, they would be allowed only one saloon for each 500 people, they immediately set out to find the 'status quo' and ordered a census of the village taken. This was done by E. E. Wolfe, who found that the village contained 927 people—not quite enough for two drink parlors.

"Doc' Dunn was granted the only license by the liquor commission, and for some time dispensed alcoholic drinks. He finally sold his place to 'Billy' Richards of the same place, for what was declared to be an exorbitant price. Since that time 'Billy' has been doing a big business at the old stand. For some reason or other, another citizen recently set his head upon establishing some of his friends in the saloon business, and stated that he believed there were enough people in the old village to allow the issuance of another license.

"The matter was taken up with the village council and Mayor Higgins, and Councilman Ralph Jones took what they claimed was an official census. The fact that this step reflected upon Mr. Wolfe, caused him to take another census, according to the federal census laws, and he got 877 persons on his list this time. The mayor and councilman would not show their list to council, but stated that if the seal of the mayor were placed on it, it would be sufficient. Following up their statement they brought it to the liquor commission, nicely done up with the seal of the mayor firmly impressed on the front.

"However, the council smelt a mouse, and the list compiled by Mr. Wolfe was brought to this city and checked with the census taken by the mayor, which contained 1019 names. All sorts of things were found among them, the name of a German liniment peddler who stayed in the village one night, the name of a young man who has been voting in the state of Iowa for five years, the names of several children whose mother was dead, and who have been in a convent out west for several years, and many other striking bits of evidence that they wanted two saloons in Bainbridge at any cost. However, the piece of work which capped the climax was when the names of a family who were moving from the village were listed and a family who lives outside the village and intended to move in the same house were both taken, despite the fact that the house is still vacant and the second family has not yet moved in, and now has no intention of doing so.

The list was rejected by the commissioners and Bainbridge will, for the present, at least, worry along with but one saloon.

FREIGHT DEPOT HAS BEEN FINISHED

The D. T. & I. freight depot has been completed, and as soon as the new tracks are placed in position the depot will be placed in active use. A platform and driveway are features of the new station.

So well has the old building been repaired, and covered with paint that it bears little resemblance to the old structure.

Work on the new passenger depot will be rushed, active work being resumed Tuesday afternoon after some little delay. When completed the seating capacity of the new structure is expected to be greater than the old depot.

REVENUE AGENT EXPECTED SOON

An agent from the Internal Revenue department is expected in the city within a short time, to obtain the government tax from offenders of the anti-liquor laws.

One of the agents usually passes through the city every few weeks, and whenever a conviction of bootlegging is made, the offender is compelled to pay the government tax or face charges preferred by the Federal authorities.

Twain's Rate.

Mark Twain went to just one automobile show in his life. He went with a Detroit friend. After he had been shown the cars and other sights the friend said: "Come on over here. The greatest salesman in the automobile business is working, and I want you to hear him."

They went to a place where the salesman was talking to a possible customer about the merits of his car. He was rattling outward so fast that Twain gasped.

"Sakes alive," said Twain in his slowest drawl, "if my publishers ever heard me talk as fast as that man does they wouldn't pay me 30 cents a word or even 2 cents. They'd make me produce words about a hundred for a nickel."—Saturday Evening Post.

Scandal.

How is it that the evil which men say spreads so widely and lasts so long, while our good, kind words don't seem somehow to take root and bear blossom? Is it that in the stony hearts of mankind these pretty flowers can't find a place to grow? Certain it is that scandal is good brisk talk, whereas praise of one's neighbor is by no means lively hearing. An acquaintance grilled, scored, and served with mustard and cayenne pepper excites the appetite, whereas a slice of cold friend with currant jelly is but a sickly, unrelishing meat.—Thackeray.

Her Dainty Speech.

There was one young woman in the box party at the theater who took no part in the noisy clatter and giggle. With her gaze fixed upon the stage she watched the progress of the play, indifferent to the gaiety around her except that her delicate, aristocratic, finely chiseled features bore a look of weariness and a scornful smile curled her lips. At last, however, she turned her head slowly and looked at the other members of the party. Then she spoke to the elderly matron sitting by her side. "That chicken in the blue kimono," she said, "thinks she is the whole custard!"—Argonaut.

Not Deceived.

"Same here. Mine only pretends to believe the yarns I tell."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

In Social Circles

One of the prettiest of children's parties was given Monday afternoon from two to five by Mrs. Harris Marchant for her little daughter, Ruth.

Following the lead of their bright little hostess, a picture in fluffy white frock and wide pink sash, thirty children trooped over the large grounds of the beautiful suburban home of the Marchants in merry play, and the air ringing with their gleeful voices.

Chief among the afternoon's delights were riding the ponies and the fish pond, from which each guest pulled out a gift.

The children were taken to the dining room, softly lighted with candles and served with a tempting repast. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in pretty decorations.

Assisting Mrs. Marchant in entertaining the children were Mrs. T. W. Marchant, Mrs. C. H. Murry, and Miss Virginia Campbell.

Elizabeth Westerfield, of New Orleans, La., was an out-of-town guest.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Chaney have returned from a visit in Lima.

Mrs. Martha Ireland returned Tuesday morning from Lynchburg, where she has been spending the summer with her brothers.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Ireland returned Monday night from a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Roy Dove, in Shelbyville, Ill.

Supt. M. E. Wilson and son, Omar B., of Jeffersonville, returned home Tuesday, after spending the past few days in Chillicothe, where Mr. Wilson attended the teacher's institute.

Carl Cheney, of Columbus, is the guest of his cousin, Paul Wood.

Mr. R. R. Kibler moves his family into the property recently vacated by Mr. Ellis Daugherty and family on Wednesday.

Miss Georgia Blessing, of Jeffersonville, is the guest of Mrs. J. H. Chapman.

Miss Martha Ford has returned from Girard, Pa., where she visited a Buchtel college friend and joined a camping party for the season.

Mr. Andy Sexton and family were here from South Solon to attend the funeral of his brother, Mr. Charles Sexton.

Mrs. M. K. Glenn, of Jackson, is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. R. R. Kibler.

Mr. Chas. Bell, who with his wife, is spending the summer at Indian Lake, spent Monday at the home of his father-in-law, Mr. J. W. Rothrock.

DELIGHTFUL PARTY

Misses Marie and Edna Holdren, of Muncie, Ind., and Miss Bess Lockett, of Columbus, were guests of honor at a very delightful party given by Miss Mary Holdren at her home near Good Hope Friday evening. A musical program, and interesting games and contests furnished entertainment throughout the evening. Most delicious refreshments consisting of punch, fruit, pink and white cakes and pink and white cream and mints were served. Those present were Misses Grace and Hazel Post, of Sugar Grove; Lucile Eifort, of Ashland, Ky.; Lucy McElwain, Georgia Weltner, Lura King, Florence Boggs, Edna Storer, Bernice Boggs, Ruth Barnes and Mrs. R. J. Holdren, of Good Hope; Misses Ruth Junk and Ruth McCoy, of Fairview; Mrs. Otto Holdren, of Muncie, Ind.; and Mrs. Ella Taylor, of Washington C. H. Messrs. Pierson Bowers, of Buena Vista; Virgil Post, of Sugar Grove; Elmer Junk, of Fairview; Homer Ware of Greenfield; Gale Creamer, James King, Heber McCoy, Oliver Wood, William White, Frank Holdren, Bruce King, Glenn Holdren and R. J. Holdren, of Good Hope.

FUNERAL OF MR. CHARLES SEXTON

The first Baptist church was crowded Tuesday morning for the funeral of Mr. Charles Sexton. A very large family connection and many friends grieved with the sorrowing wife, brothers and sisters over the untimely death of a man in the prime of life, with business ability and many likeable traits to insure success. Rev. A. W. West conducted a simple service and a quartet sang favorite hymns. There was a profusion of flowers sent from far and near. A long line of carriages followed the remains to the Sugar Creek cemetery, where the burial was made. The pall-bearers were: Floyd El-Hott, Albert Snider, Robert McCord, Eph Haines, Wm. Boyer and C. D. Yeoman.

TROTT-PALMER BOUT

Regarding the bout between Palmer and Trott, in Columbus Monday night, the State Journal says: "Bob Trott and Billy Palmer were scheduled for six rounds, but at the close of the first Billy cast a shoe and retired from the race. It was pretty interesting as far as it went, with both trying for a knockout in every punch."

FIFTY STUDENTS LEAVE FOR COLLEGE

The large number of Washington High school graduates now attending various colleges speaks volumes for the educational impetus given in our city's public schools.

A number of these graduates have entered college with advanced standing, owing to having taken extra work and the high grade of our high school.

Over fifty students leave Washington this fall to enter their chosen alma mater.

In addition to the list of members of the class of 1914 entering college, published a few days ago, the following students will leave this month:

Lucy Roseboom, Antioch; Alden Baughn, O. S. U.; Howard Ellis, Chicago; Harold Nisely, West Point Military Academy; Marie Nisely, O. U.; Frank Reed, Miami; Ruth Wilson, O. U.; Ralph Beatty, O. S. U.; Winchell Carig, O. W. U.; Maynard Craig, O. W. U.; Harold Craig, O. W. U.; Helen Jones, O. S. U.; Charles Willis, Dennison; Cecil Hays, O. S. U.; Pitt Fitzgald, Art Institute, Philadelphia; Ruth Van Kirk, Antioch; Samuel McDowell, O. S. U.; Maxwell Dice, Miami; Davis Edwards, Chicago; Fred Hall, O. S. U.; Sara Holmes, Denison; Allee Parrett, Miami; Grace Post, Hazel Post, O. U.; Jane Saxton, O. W. U.; Ruth Smith, Miami; Mary Tysor, Ward-Belmont; Ed Williams, O. S. U.; Clarence Boyer, O. S. U.; Paul Zimmerman, Miami; Mary Collins, O. U.; Eva McClure, Miami; Melwood Hostettler, Bethany Military Academy.

MRS. BAXTERS' PARTY AWAITING STEAMER

A letter received from Mrs. Arvilla Rowe Baxter, by Mrs. Walter Ellis Sunday night, gives welcome news in regard to the safety of Mrs. Baxter and her party.

The letter was written from Milan, Italy, on the 8th of August.

The party had been able to get a little money, $50 to each person, and had received the assurance of the consulate that all Americans would be well taken care of.

The trip has been a delightful one, aside from the war inconvenience, but the tourists are quite willing to take the first available steamer for home.

RAILROAD MEN TO LOSE THEIR HEADS

It is claimed that as a result of the head-on collision between two passenger trains on the D. T. & I. near South Charleston, Sunday, that one engineer and one conductor will lose their positions, and that a suspension has already been made. The wreck, while not serious was of a nature clearly indicative that somebody was seriously at fault.

No Fruit Without Bees.

If there were no bees, fruit trees and other plants could not produce any fruit. Apple, plum, cucumber, clover, alfalfa, alfalfa are fertilized by bees. Honey is the bait with which the bee is induced to perform this task. The colored, fragrant petals of the blossom are the advertising signboard telling the bee where the honey may be found. If the blossom is to set fruit the bee with its fuzzy body must brush some of the yellow dust called pollen from the male organs or anthers at the bottom of the blossom, deposit this pollen on the female organ called the stigma. The blossoms are so arranged that to get at the honey the bee must first brush, with its pollen covered body against the stigma, thus completing the pollination. As soon as it has performed this duty it may draw a check for the work in the form of the blossom. While drawing this pay the bee is involuntarily covered with pollen again and made ready to proceed to the next blossom and repeat the process.—Francis Jaeger.

Legend of the Peacock's Feathers.

The ill fortune said to fall upon the owners of peacocks and the wearers of peacock feathers is accounted for by an oriental legend.

The story runs after this fashion: When God created the peacock the seven deadly sins were stirred with bitter jealousy and complained loudly that the bird should be more beautiful than they.

"You are quite right," the Creator answered. "I have been unjust, for I have already given you too much. You should be as black as the night that conceals you." Whereupon he plucked out the green eye of jealousy, the yellow eye of envy and the red eye of murder and added them to the bird's feathers. So the blind sins are ever pursuing the bird to regain their eyes, and that is the reason that when men or women adorn themselves with the feathers misfortune dogs their footsteps.

Australia's Rolling Stones.

The "rolling stones" of Australia placed on a fairly smooth surface will soon roll together in a group. They contain a magnetic ore.

Too Much For the Cabs.

One afternoon Signor Lablache, the celebrated basso, a man of enormous proportions, on leaving Covent Garden theater after rehearsal found that his carriage had not arrived, so he sent for a four wheeler. Into this, after a strenuous effort, he managed to squeeze his massive body, to find himself seated on the edge of the smaller seat, a truly uncomfortable position, which it was imperative at once to change. As he struggled to his feet in his attempt to do so the bottom of the vehicle gave way, and the artist found himself standing in the road. Help, however, was at hand, and he was released with no small difficulty from his ridiculous dilemma.

A similar adventure befell the brothers Pope—one a doctor, the other the well known Q. C.—who between them weighed over forty stone, when crossing Waterloo bridge in a four wheeled cab. How it happened is uncertain, but about the center of the bridge the floor of the cab collapsed, and for the next thirty yards two pairs of sturdy legs, straining to keep pace with the horse's mild amble, was a spectacle for unrepentant mirth. Cabby soon pulled up, and eager hands quickly extricated the obese and exhausted brothers.—London Tit-Bits.

Beth Bluffers.

She—if you don't go away at once I shall call my husband. Peddler—I called on him first, and he threatened me with you.—Fliegende Blätter.

Eyeglass Lenses.

All lenses used in making eyeglasses by manufacturers in this country are formed from imported glass, which is secured principally from Germany. This glass is of texture and transparency so far above the products of American glass plants that the optical companies use it exclusively for their high grade work. Each blank is about two inches square and nearly one-eighth inch in thickness. In appearance it is not unlike an ordinary piece of plate glass—the edges are rough from the molds, and it has no magnifying properties. This is the work of the optical manufacturer, and it is for him to grind the glass and form it until it magnifies or refracts the object before it.—Columbus Dispatch.

The Million Dollar Mystery.

Story by Harold MacGrath.

Scenario by Lloyd Lonergan.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING EPISODES.—The millionaire, Hargrave, traitor member of the "Black Hundred," makes a desperate escape from their vengeance in a balloon which is wrecked at sea. One million dollars mysteriously disappears from Hargrave's safe. The "Black Hundred" is determined to get it. They ransack Hargrave's home. Next a fiendish attempt to kidnap Florence, Hargrave's beautiful daughter, is foiled by Norton. Then, their forced entry at midnight into a lonely warehouse to rob the safe, results in the capture of all but Braine, their leader. Foiled, they cunningly lure Florence to a top floor flat, trap her, but she thwarts them. Again they scheme; Florence despairs, and Jones removes a tin box from its secret hiding place, and steals away with it. Braine and a confederate pursue him. Then follows a thrilling motor boat chase ending in a complete rout of the pursuers, Jones speeding safely away and the tin box, still unopened lying at the bottom of the sea.

EPISODE NO. 6.—THE COACHING PARTY OF THE COUNTESS.—The opening finds Braine and the Countess discussing their failures. They discover a strange man watching the Countess' apartment. Alarmed, they decide they must act quickly. They plan another scheme to get not only Florence, but Jones, too. Florence is invited by the Countess to a coaching party out to an old mansion—Jones is invited also. The members of the "Black Hundred" gather secretly at the mansion to carry out the fiendish plan. On the way the coaching party meet Norton. Fearing he knows not what he secretly follows. The plot progresses—Florence is lured into the trap—Norton rescues her aided by Jones. The three start away on horseback, but, being discovered are immediately pursued. Jones stops and by fearless, hazardous tactics delays the pursuers, while Florence and Norton gallop away.

Never before such amazing action in Moving Pictures—and more startling portrayal will appear as each Episode is shown at this theater. $10,000.00 in cash will be awarded for the best 100 word solution of this mystery. See the pictures here. Read the story in the paper. Follow the developments each week. Then send in your solution. You have the chance to win the $10,000.00.

WHY ADVERTISE NOW?

We are asked to advise, if under present conditions, advertising should be curtailed.

But each line has its own unique "present conditions." Such a question involves several forms of advice.

These are boom times in some lines. Many factories are overwhelmed with orders. Some face a demand far beyond their capacity.

Some cater largely to farmers, and farmers in general seem this year to be getting rather more than their share of prosperity. The farmer with full pockets finds nothing too good for him. He's a magnificent spender.

These fortunate advertisers who are over-sold can very wisely cut down on their advertising. There is no virtue in selling more than one can deliver.

There are other lines imported, or requiring imported materials, on which there is stoppage of supplies. There are lines which for these, or other transient reasons, sell now at abnormal prices. There are lines sold at fixed prices on which advancing costs have decimated profits for a time. On all such lines one might advise curtailment in all forms of salesmanship.

But "present conditions" in general mean a degree of depression, a shade of uncertainty. And the query is, if in such situations advertising should be curtailed or stopped. By all means no. Should a runner stop for a rising grade, or a swimmer for an adverse tide? If they did, where might their rivals in the race be when they started up?

Advertising ought to be the cheapest salesmanship. Also the most efficient. If it is that, then it is the last force to reduce. If it isn't then it needs, in good or bad times, rehabilitation.

In national advertising our most prosperous times come during business depression. Then is when men who are on the right lines fight hardest. Then is when waste is eliminated, and the cheapest and best methods are used to the limit. And then is when the weak and inefficient abandon the field to the stronger.

There may be less business to get in dull times, but there are also less men who use the best ways to get it. Some of the greatest harvests ever gathered in advertising have been garnered in times of depression.

We find that good advertising is rarely stopped by misfortune. It is ten times as often stopped by overdemand. The chief clients of this house are today pressing advertising harder than ever before.

But is this in reality any time to feel blue? Doesn't it look as though we might be on the verge of unprecedented business prosperity?

Home prospects look better than usual. Big crops at high prices bring smiles to the faces of nearly one-half of our people. The railroads got a little encouragement. Our new banking system will ward off some dangers.

Then what new boons may come to us, like gifts from the dead, as a result of this pitiful war? Reason tells us they must come if we reach out to get them. Life still flows on amid that devastation. People must be clothed and fed. And the markets abandoned by the nations which held them should be supplied by us.

When millions desert the arts of peace, those who abide, well equipped and ready, surely ought to prosper.

As for war news affecting the value of ads, it certainly doesn't detract from them. It is giving to advertisers increased circulation with no present advance in cost.

The argument that it makes newspapers too interesting is a new one in advertising. The most interesting magazines have always been the best patronized. Why should we seek for dull newspapers?

In any event, the average woman is not a great reader of war news. Her favorite pages in the newspaper remain about as ever. She is the household buyer. And the majority of advertising, even on men's things, depends on its appeal to her.

No, these are not times to cease advertising, save under rare conditions. The harder the fight the more one needs his best weapons. The more quitters there are the more there is for the rest of us. And we who keep ready and active and fit—who keep in the thick of things, dull times and good—will hold immeasurable advantage when the tide comes in.

French War Office Reviews Operations of Past Week.

STATEMENT FRANK AND FULL

Morale Remains Excellent, It Says, and All Holes in the Ranks Have Been Filled by Reinforcements From Army Centers—Operations in Northern France and in the Vosges Region.

Paris, Sept. 1.—The French war office issued a full, frank statement in regard to the operations of the past week. It admits several reverses and heavy losses, but says that at no point has the army been really demoralized. The morale remains excellent and all holes in the ranks have been stopped by reinforcements from the army centers. The statement says:

"In the Vosges and Lorraine regions our forces, which took up the offensive in those districts from the very start of the operations and have been repulsing the enemy to beyond our frontiers, have finally experienced a serious check before Montagne, where they ran into very strong defensive operations. Our troops had to retire to reconstitute their formations, some going to the fortified region around Nancy and some into the French Vosges. The Germans took up the offensive, but our troops, after pushing the enemy's attacks back on her already organized rear positions, were able again to assume the offensive. This attack has made progress. "Along the Meuse region, between Verdun and Mezieres, the French assumed the offensive toward Longwy, Neufchateau and Halisul. Our troops operating around Spin Court and Longwy checked the enemy, notably the crown prince's army. On the contrary, around Neufchateau and Halisul some of our troops have suffered partial checks which forced them to fall back on the Meuse, but without suffering any disorganization. "This retreat obliged our forces which were operating around Spin Court to retreat also toward the Meuse. During the last few days the enemy sought to break through from the Meuse with considerable forces but was driven back to the river with heavy losses by our vigorous counter offensive. However, new German forces advanced by way of the Roerol region, marching toward Rothel. At the present moment a general engagement is under way in the region between the Meuse and Rothel.

Operations in North.

"Operations in the north: The French and English force initially advanced into the Slimet-Charleroi-Mons country. Several partial checks were experienced in the forcing of the Meuse by the Germans, and around Givet, on our flank, they forced our troops to retreat. The Germans were seeking always to overflow at the west. It was under these conditions that our English allies, attacked by very superior numbers around Le Chateau and Cambrai, had to retreat south at the moment when we had operated around Khami. The retreat continued during several following days. However, a general battle was begun on Friday in the region of St. Quentin and Vervins, at the same time as in the region around Ham and Perrone, in the Homme department. This battle was marked for us by an important success at our right, where we repulsed the Prussian guard and the Tenth German corps to the Oise. But on the contrary, and always by reason of the German right wing, where the enemy has collected its best army corps, we have had to make another movement of retreat."

MANY FLEE FROM PARIS

Paris, Sept. 1.—Lines of anxious noncombatants, anxious to leave the city before the beginning of the siege, stretched for many blocks from the railroad stations. Thousands of persons already have left the capital and thousands more are preparing to leave. During the night the lines at the ticket windows of the railroads began to form. These people intend to stay in line until they have purchased their tickets on outgoing trains. They have been notified that it may be two days before they leave, but they have their hand baggage and food ready to stand a short siege now, rather than a longer one later.

A cheerful side of the picture is the assurance given out by the authorities that in the eventuality of a siege Paris is in far better shape in regard to the food supply than in 1870. There are large stocks of flour, cattle, general provisions and coal actually within the city gates and large stores continue to arrive every day. The water supply has been protected against any attempts of the Germans to cut it off.

'LEGGERS ARRESTED

Bellefontaine, O., Sept. 1.—Seven men and three women, including a druggist, were arrested in bootlegging raids made by the county sheriff and prosecuting attorney in this city and at Lakeview. One man arrested was charged with selling liquor from a market basket.

WILSON RETURNS

Windsor, Vt., Sept. 1.—President Wilson left for Washington today, refreshed and cheered by his sojourn in Cornish, N. H. Quiet and rain have marked most of his stay, but the last day was ideal.

WOUNDS IN WAR.

Those Caused by Shrapnel Are Most Liable to Infection.

A French doctor who went through the recent Balkan war gives an interesting account of wounds and how they are got.

Dr. Laurent's experience shows that in modern warfare, where the soldier fires under cover as much as possible, lying prone in a trench, bullets from the enemy either hit him on the head or catch his hands. The right hand is protected by the rifle, so that it is the left that gets hurt.

Many soldiers have had their lives saved by the chance presence of a pocketbook filled with papers or even of a metallic cigarette case in the left breast pocket of their tunic. Superposed sheets of paper have always constituted, even in ancient wars, an excellent shield.

Dr. Laurent's statistics show from 82 to 84 per cent of bullet wounds, from 15 to 17 per cent of shrapnel wounds and 1 per cent of wounds by cold steel. Infection by the projectile was observed in 40 per cent of cases by shrapnel and from 10 to 25 per cent of bullet wounds.

The number of wounds cured without any complication was 75 per cent. Shrapnel bullets have a much less penetrative force than rifle bullets, at any rate when the shrapnel does not burst close to the soldier. Shrapnel bullets are very often found embedded in the clothes, but never rifle bullets.

Running a Ship Without a Crew.

It is reported from Germany that a successful test has been made of a device whereby a vessel may be run without a crew. A transmitter with a mast similar to that used in wireless telegraphy "commands" the ship, and this operates systematically during a period of hours. The ship turns to the right and left, backs and comes to a stop as if run by a man in the engine room. Multicolored lights show the maneuvers to the men ashore. This invention was primarily intended for use in connection with the discharge of torpedoes, but now, it is thought, it may serve as a medium for the control of dirigible balloons.—New York Tribune.

CARDINAL DELLA VOLPE HEAD OF CHURCH UNTIL NEW POPE IS ELECTED.
 Cardinal Francesco Della Volpe, as camerlengo (chamberlain), is now the acting head of the Roman Catholic church. He will conduct affairs until the conclave elects a new pope. He is sixty-nine years old. He was at the time of his elevation to the cardinalate the maggiordomo of the pope and controlled the whole administration of the papal residence, supervising the Vatican employees. He had held that position for eight years having previously been the maestro di camera, the official who has charge of arranging for papal audiences. Many Americans, who visited Rome when Cardinal Della Volpe held this office remember his affable manner and courteous attention. He has spent all his life in Rome. He is archbishop of Bologna.

PLANNING REVENUES

Ways and Means Committee Preparing New Revenue Bill.

Washington, Sept. 1.—A stamp tax on soft drinks as well as beer and patent medicines is contemplated by members of the house ways and means committee, which is preparing an emergency internal revenue bill to offset treasury losses due to curtailment of imports. It is urged that soft drinks are as much luxuries as wines or beer and that an equitable distribution of the tax burden among all consumers would be accomplished by this plan.

Another suggestion is a stamp tax of 5 or 10 per cent on railroad tickets and admission to theaters, baseball parks and other licensed amusements. It is estimated that from $50,000,000 to $80,000,000 could be raised in this way.

The committee has not determined upon a complete taxation plan as yet, but purposes to hasten its deliberations so a bill may be introduced soon after President Wilson addresses congress on the subject. Administration leaders are impressed with the necessity of quick action in order to disturb business conditions as little as possible. Democrats of the senate will discuss the emergency in a party caucus to be called later this week.

A doubling of the present tax on beer, it is estimated by treasury experts, would produce $65,000,000. Some committee members, however, feel that taxation of commodities other than beer and patent medicines would cause less popular friction.

Something Doing in Baseball.

Long before "play ball" is called for the first game of the 1915 season the Federal league will be taken in by the forces of organized baseball. This is a prediction rather than a statement of positive fact, but stick a pin in it just the same and then sit tight and await developments. Though they are not yet ready to admit it, tentative plans to bring about a permanent truce between the leagues have been discussed, and a fulfillment of arrangements will be made after the close of the current season.—Ed A. Geowey in Leslie's.

A Busy Philadelphia Street.

A total of 1,000 children between the ages of six and sixteen is the remarkable record of one block in the Third school district, South Philadelphia, as shown by the report of the bureau of compulsory education just completed. The report also sets forth that in a nearby block eighteen languages are spoken among the school children.

Bats and Fans.

The ordinary folding fan was invented in the seventh century by a Japanese artist, who derived the idea from watching a bat closing its wings.

BISMARCK SAW AMERICA AS ONLY PLACE OF SAFETY

Howard V. Sutherland of Chicago, when a boy, had the great privilege of visiting the country home of the late Prince Bismarck at Friedrichsruh.

Although he was only a child, the honor of the visit deeply impressed Mr. Sutherland and he remembered distinctly every act and word of the great German during the brief call.

Describing what took place, Mr. Sutherland says:

"With a map of the world before him, the prince was explaining how the existing political conditions had come into being, and, among other things, remarked that no state of affairs could be considered permanent there—in Europe.

"Placing his left hand upon Europe, he said: 'Here we shall have ever growing dissension and weakness resulting from over culture.' Then, placing his right hand upon Asia, he said: 'Eventually, here will move here (indicating Europe by a tapping movement of the forefinger of his left hand). It is only a question of when these millions become hungry enough.'

"A little later he continued: 'In those days there will be but one safe country, but one country that shall represent our civilization.' And silently he lifted his left hand and laid it heavily upon America."

LEGEND OF THE TEAPOT.

Origin of the Beverage as the Tale is Told in China.

The Chinese claim to be the first users of tea as a drink, and now it originated is told in a pretty little legend that dates from 2,000 years before the coming of Christ.

A daughter of a then reigning sovereign fell in love with a young nobleman whose humble birth excluded him from marrying her. They managed to exchange glances, and he occasionally gathered a few blossoms and had them conveyed to her.

One day in the palace garden the sweethearts met, and the young man endeavored to give her a few flowers, but so keen was the watchfulness of her attendants that all she could grasp was a little twig with green leaves.

On reaching her room she put the twig in water, and toward evening she drank the water in which the twig had been kept. So agreeable was the taste that she even ate the leaves and stalks. Every day afterward she had bunches of the tea tree brought to her, which she treated in the same way.

Imitation being the sincerest form of flattery, the ladies of the court tried the experiment and with such pleasing results that the custom spread throughout the kingdom—and the great Chinese tea industry became one of the greatest businesses in the world.—London Tit-Bits.

PAINT THE SCREW HOLES.

Then You Can Use Them Over and Over Again Without Trouble.

Many persons experience considerable difficulty in getting screws to hold in screen doors and other movable conveniences which are put up and taken down frequently and which are held in place by screws. The holes occupied by the screws become worn, and the screws are often quite loose, causing doors to sag and be otherwise out of proper order.

Bits of paper, strings and small pieces of wood are used to partially fill up the holes so as to cause the screws to be tight, but these work out and cause great annoyance, and a better method is greatly desired.

A coat of paint on the inside of the screw holes is the most satisfactory remedy for such an annoyance.

When screws are removed paint the holes with a small pencil brush or a bit of cloth twisted and dipped in the paint. When the paint fills the creases made by the threads on the screw and thoroughly dries the screw will fit tightly the next time it is thrust into the cavity. The painting should be done each time the screws are removed, and it will protect the wood as well as make the holes ready for the readjustment of the door or other object which has to be changed quite often.—Philadelphia North American.

CLAIMS CONDUCTOR BLOCKED CROSSING

Complaining that C. H. & D. conductor had blocked the street near the Standard Oil Company's plant on West Market street, Agent Carr, of the Oil Company, appeared before Mayor Coffey to file an affidavit against the guilty party, Tuesday afternoon.

It is claimed that time after time the road has blocked the street, and left it so that automobiles could not reach the Oil plant, and that because of carelessness on the part of certain conductors, the crossing had become dangerous, and that relief was necessary.

The authorities immediately took the matter up to obtain relief from the congestion.

LARGE NUMBER ATTEND FUNERAL

The funeral of Mrs. B. F. Jacobs, held at the residence at Parrett's Station Sunday morning, was very large, attended by relatives and friends from neighboring towns and the country around.

Rev. Doty, of Spring Grove church assisted by Rev. Creamer, conducted the services. The Spring Grove choir sang the chosen hymns.

Many neighbors and friends sent beautiful flowers.

The remains were laid to rest in the Creamer graveyard, by the pallbearers, Messrs. Lewis Perrill, Reuben Rankin, John Morgan, Sam Clemmens, Homer Kessler and Roy Heglar.

LEGEND OF THE TEAPOT.

Origin of the Beverage as the Tale is Told in China.

The Chinese claim to be the first users of tea as a drink, and now it originated is told in a pretty little legend that dates from 2,000 years before the coming of Christ.

A daughter of a then reigning sovereign fell in love with a young nobleman whose humble birth excluded him from marrying her. They managed to exchange glances, and he occasionally gathered a few blossoms and had them conveyed to her.

One day in the palace garden the sweethearts met, and the young man endeavored to give her a few flowers, but so keen was the watchfulness of her attendants that all she could grasp was a little twig with green leaves.

On reaching her room she put the twig in water, and toward evening she drank the water in which the twig had been kept. So agreeable was the taste that she even ate the leaves and stalks. Every day afterward she had bunches of the tea tree brought to her, which she treated in the same way.

Imitation being the sincerest form of flattery, the ladies of the court tried the experiment and with such pleasing results that the custom spread throughout the kingdom—and the great Chinese tea industry became one of the greatest businesses in the world.—London Tit-Bits.

NO INFORMATION ON STOLEN HORSE

Having received no information concerning the horse stolen from the pasture of Jack Vance, Sunday night, the police have spread a larger net to capture the thief.

Patrolman Baughn went to London, Tuesday morning, with a view to apprehending the man in that place.

MORE TROUBLE AT ASHVILLE

Harry B. Carpenter, well known man of Ashville, Pickaway county, is under $1,000 bond for shooting to kill Charles Pettibone, of Ashville.

Carpenter is alleged to have shot in self-defense, when Pettibone drew a knife and threatened him. Both had been drinking.

Carpenter has frequently plunged into the limelight by using his pistol. Five years ago he shot and wounded a man named "Hammer" Bowsher, and a few years previous to that shot and killed a colored barber after the barber had shot once at Carpenter.

Pettibone has a reputation as a knife wielder.

FINGER LACERATED AND NEARLY TORN OFF

Daniel Haggard, an employee of the Chair Factory, had the index finger of one hand nearly torn off in the machinery with which he was working Monday.

The finger was horribly lacerated, but the physician believes that amputation will not be necessary.

He had a narrow escape from losing not only the finger, but the hand as well.

PAINT THE SCREW HOLES.

Then You Can Use Them Over and Over Again Without Trouble.

Many persons experience considerable difficulty in getting screws to hold in screen doors and other movable conveniences which are put up and taken down frequently and which are held in place by screws. The holes occupied by the screws become worn, and the screws are often quite loose, causing doors to sag and be otherwise out of proper order.

Bits of paper, strings and small pieces of wood are used to partially fill up the holes so as to cause the screws to be tight, but these work out and cause great annoyance, and a better method is greatly desired.

A coat of paint on the inside of the screw holes is the most satisfactory remedy for such an annoyance.

When screws are removed paint the holes with a small pencil brush or a bit of cloth twisted and dipped in the paint. When the paint fills the creases made by the threads on the screw and thoroughly dries the screw will fit tightly the next time it is thrust into the cavity. The painting should be done each time the screws are removed, and it will protect the wood as well as make the holes ready for the readjustment of the door or other object which has to be changed quite often.—Philadelphia North American.

The cases of Joe Tapsico, Joe Barker and Chas. Bryant, charged with the illegal sale of intoxicants have been set for trial before Mayor Coffey, next Monday.

TROOPS ALL HOME FROM ANNUAL CAMP

Major Rell G. Allen, Capt. O. E. Hardway and Company M returned from camp Monday evening, reaching this city about four o'clock, with all men in good condition with the exception of bad colds, due to the continued rains while in camp.

It was the worst camping weather ever encountered by the Fourth, but all made the best of the situation and took the rain as a matter of course.

The camp, regardless of weather, was pronounced the best managed.

DEATHS

BENNETT.

Howard, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bennett, residing on Temple street, died Tuesday morning.

Funeral Wednesday at 2:30 p. m., private. Burial in Washington cemetery.

Imaginary Whys of Celibacy.

"Curious how when a man remains a bachelor people will speculate concerning his celibate state:

"Well, he has had an unfortunate affair some time or other. No man as attractive as he has gone this long without a tender memory to accompany him."

Of a woman:

"Funny she never married.—Now, you'd think she'd be attractive to the men, wouldn't you?"—New York Sun.

Good News For Papa.

"Paw!"

"Well?"

"When I promise to marry him do you want him to come and ask your consent?"

"No, not my consent, but I would like to have him trot in and tell me the good news. I sort of feel like I needed cheering up."—Houston Post.

Your Congressman's Politics

Of course you know it, but do you know the politics of every other congressman in Ohio? Of every state senator and representative? Do you even know the names of them all? Isn't it possible that the information might be useful to you some day? And don't you think you'd like to know anyway? Or at least be able to look it up easily if you wanted to?

It takes less than one minute to find those names and the districts, and the party to which the men belong, in our 1914 OHIO ALMANAC, just issued.

And if you are not interested in the people who represent you and make most of the laws that govern you, there are 100,000 other facts that you WILL be interested in to be found in this splendid HANDBOOK, and all found with equal facility. There is not another book published which provides such source of information for you. If you don't own an Ohio Almanac you will have to go to the complicated original sources to find those things, just as we did to compile this book for you.
